Faure Receives Confidence Vote With Reds' Help

PARIS, Thursday, Nov. 3 (AP)—The National Assembly gave Premier Edgar Faure's government a vote of confidence early today on the issue of advancing the date for the next parliamentary elections. The vote was 330-211.

The government has called for a windup of the present parliament on Jan. 2. This would mean elections some time next month.

The voting previously had been scheduled for next June, the normal end of the Assembly's five-year term.

Communists Back Faure

Faure won with the support of the Communist deputies in the chamber. First indications were that at least 80 of the 94 Communist members supported the government. Without them, Faure would have lost the vote and been forced to resign.

The bill now goes to the Council of the Republic, the upper house of Parliament. Under the latest interpretation of parliamentary rules, the Senate will have to approve or reject the measure before the end of next week.

The government's request for urgent assembly consideration of the measure also will apply to the Council of the Republic, sources said.

Reds Desire Elections

The vote came after five hours of stormy discussion in the Assembly. Faure's eventual victory appeared assured early in the debate when Jacques Duclos, Communist parliamentary leader, announced the Reds would support the government on this issue.

Duclos said this decision should not be taken to mean Communist approval of Faure's regime but was an expression of the party's desire for early elections.

The Premier has insisted December elections are necessary because of grave decisions that must be taken early next year, especially on France's relations with its troubled North African territories.

Such decisions, he said, could not be properly weighed by an Assembly that had one eye cocked on an upcoming campaign.

Ike To Request Changes In T-H, Mitchell Says

DENVER, Nov. 2 (AP)—Secretary of Labor Mitchell said today he has abandoned any hope that the next congressional session will approve administration proposals to change the Taft-Hartley labor law.

But he said President Eisenhower again will recommend changes to the legislators.

Mitchell spent 30 minutes conferring with Eisenhower today at Fitzsimons Army Hospital. He told a news conference afterward the President will press once more for half a dozen items of labor legislation which the Democratic-controlled Congress failed to enact in the last session, along with the new legislative suggestions which can't be disclosed now.

Congress Turndown Seen

As something of an afterthought, in response to a question, the secretary included Taft-Hartley amendments in the legislative program for labor. With Congress in its present mood, he said, he sees no possibility that it would put through such amendments.

Mitchell was the eighth Cabinet member to call on the chief executive at the hospital. Eisenhower stepped out today along the road to recovery from his heart attack and goal of ending a stay of nearly seven weeks in the hospital on Nov. 11.

Ike Does More Walking

The chief executive did more walking today than at any time since his progress toward convalescence permitted him to take the first steps. Both at breakfast and lunchtime he walked to Mrs. Eisenhower's room, a few doors from his own.

And twice he walked down a long corridor to work with his paints.

Eisenhower saw Mitchell after two hours of resting and napping. And the secretary said, "I found him to be in exceedingly good health, surprisingly so."

Arrest Follows Peron Interview

ASUNCION, Paraguay, Nov. 2 (AP)—Anibal Arguello, part-time correspondent in Asuncion for the Associated Press and Time magazine, has been under arrest since Friday for interviewing former President Juan D. Peron of Argentina. Arguello is a Paraguayan.

The interview may have been a factor in Peron's decision to leave Paraguay. The Argentine government has been vexed by his presence so near Argentina and his talks with newspapermen. Many Paraguayans didn't want Peron in their country.

The nature of the interview, which Arguello intended to transmit to the AP, has not been learned. Arguello has not been permitted to receive visits from reporters although he has been in touch with his family.

New Navy Ammo Ship Christened

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Lemuel C. Shepherd Jr., wife of the Marine Corps commandant, today christened the first of a new line of Navy ammunition ships, the "Suribachi."

The Suribachi, or AE21, represents the most recent development in ships designed to rapidly resupply fighting ships with ammunition and explosives during sea operations.

It was named for the famous peak on the Island of Iwo Jima, won at such a costly price by the Marines during World War II.

UAL Head Says Evidence Points To Mid-Air Blast

LONGMONT, Colo., Nov. 2 (AP)—United Air Lines today engaged an explosives expert to investigate the crash of a New York-to-Seattle DC6B near here last night with the loss of 44 lives.

UAL President W. A. Patterson said in a statement released at the airline offices in Chicago, "All evidence now strongly indicates this accident resulted from an explosion in the air."

This action came as government investigators sought to determine whether "remedial action" should be taken immediately in this area as a result of the disaster. It was the second crash near Denver in less than four weeks and the fourth UAL crash on the same route in 10 years with a total loss of 180 lives.

Plane Fell In Flames

All aboard the plane were killed last night when the aircraft appeared to explode and fell in flames a few minutes after taking off from Denver.

On Oct. 6, a United DC4 smashed into Medicine Bow Peak in southern Wyoming, killing 66 persons in the nation's worst commercial aviation disaster.

Patterson's statement said:

"Determination of responsibility for the accident is beyond the authority of United Air Lines alone. Federal and local officials are now working at the scene.

Joint Investigation

"United has retained the services of Charles Wilson, an outstanding authority in the field of explosives, who is affiliated with the crime laboratory of the State of Wisconsin. Experts from our own organization and the Douglas company are cooperating with all federal agencies in the most vigorous investigation. We will search out every possibility, however remote."

In Washington, the Civil Aeronautics Authority said it would try "to find out if any type of immediate remedial action is necessary pending the outcome of the probe. Three top CAA officials are flying to Denver."

Soldier Survives 2,300-Volt Shock

FORT KNOX, Ky. Nov. 2 (AP)—It was the biggest shock of his life but Cpl. Richard Sturgell will live.

He brushed a wire and was hit by 2,300 volts. Doctors are still wondering how the 21-year-old soldier managed to survive.

Sturgell, a Korean War veteran, was helping load a ditchdigger Aug. 23 when he found it necessary to lift some power lines in order to move equipment. One wire was hot.

"As I lifted the wires the one hot wire brushed against the back of my neck and the whole charge went through me three times," the soldier recalled.

"It was like being hit by a pile driver — it knocked me off the ditchdigger and held me in the air for seconds while the charges jerked through me."

Today, three ugly scars on Sturgell's neck bear witness to the accident.

Americans Win '55 Nobel Chemistry, Physics Prizes

STOCKHOLM, Sweden, Nov. 2 (AP)—Three American scientists today won the 1955 Nobel prizes in chemistry and physics.

Dr. Vincent du Vigneaud of Cornell University medical college will receive the $36,720 chemistry award for work on two hormones that help in childbirth and keep a check on vital organs like the kidneys.

The physics award goes jointly to Dr. Willis E. Lamb of Stanford University and Dr. Polykarp Kusch of Columbia University. They will split $36,720 for work in connection with atomic measurements. Their work corrected an error made by a Briton who previously won the Nobel prize.

The prizes, announced by the Royal Swedish Academy of Science, will be presented by King Gustaf Adolf here Dec. 10. The awards were created by the will of Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

Dr. Du Vigneaud, born in Chicago 54 years ago, was the first scientist to take apart and put together a hormone produced by the pituitary gland. Nobel authorities described his work on the two substances—oxytocin and vasopressin—as "a historic feat in biochemistry."

The work that won the physics prize for Dr. Lamb, 42, and Dr. Kusch, 44, was described by the Academy as a major advance toward learning what goes on inside the atom. It enabled scientists to calculate correctly the properties of some of its component parts.

Peron Lands In Rio, Then Heads North

Destination Said To Be Nicaragua; May Go To Europe

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 2 (AP)—Juan D. Peron broke off his exile in Paraguay today and flew to Brazil. His ultimate destination was announced as Nicaragua, but speculation arose that the deposed President of Argentina might be heading for Europe.

Officials in Paraguay provided a plane for him and breathed a sigh of relief. Insisting on anonymity, they said his departure relieved them of many worries. But they insisted it was Peron's own idea.

In Rio Three Hours

The Paraguayan army DC4 halted in Rio de Janeiro three hours, landing in a military section of the airport closed to the public, and then headed northward. An air force captain quoted Peron as saying he was going to Nicaragua, as had been announced in Paraguay—but it wasn't clear why he was traveling around Brazil's hump when he could go to Nicaragua on a more direct route via Lima, Peru. Indeed, Lima had been announced in Paraguay as his immediate goal.

In northeastern Brazil there are several large bases from which planes take off for Europe.

In Managua, President Anastasio Somoza told The Associated Press that Peron would be welcome to take asylum in Nicaragua. But he said he had no knowledge of the former dictator's plans.

11 Pieces Of Luggage

The deposed dictator went to Paraguay from Argentina as a political refugee last month. He was moved from Asuncion, the capital, to Villarica 150 miles away when the new Argentine government protested against his presence close to the Argentine border.

Peron drove back to the capital last night and took off at dawn with a bodyguard and 11 pieces of luggage. A few Paraguayan officials, none of Cabinet rank, saw him off.

Peron's presence in Paraguay caused dissent within the Paraguayan government and strained relations with Argentina.

Peace Talk Bid Sent To Arabs By Ben-Gurion

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector, Nov. 2 (AP)—Israel's Premier offered today to talk peace with the Arab nations.

In his first speech since returning to the premiership after two years' retirement, David Ben-Gurion told Parliament there is "no real reason for an Israel-Egyptian conflict, but on the contrary there is a fruitful basis for cooperation between the two peoples."

"Israel is ready for a lasting and enduring peace settlement and for long-term political, economic and cultural co-operation between Israel and its neighbors," he said.

"If the other side is not ready for that yet, we would also agree to a limited settlement providing for the insurance of the full implementation of the armistice agreements, mutual elimination of all incidents and acts of hostility, boycott and blockade, observance of freedom of the seas and any additional arrangements agreeable to both sides.

"The government of Egypt and other Arab rulers now have the opportunity to show the world what they really want: war or peace."

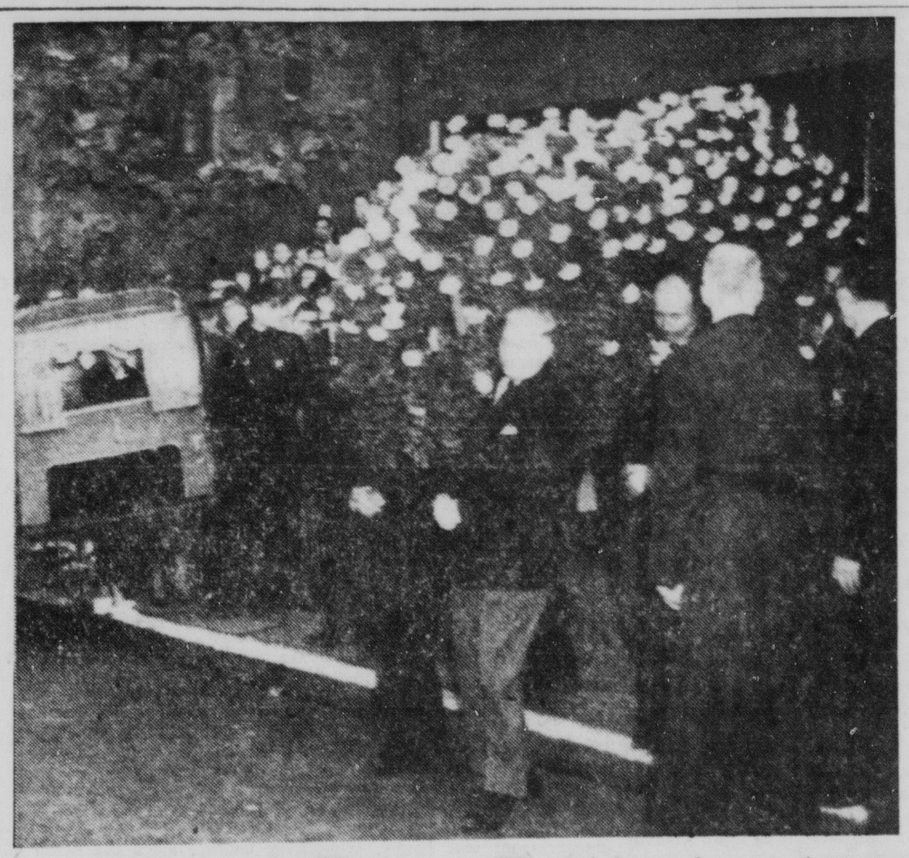
In Cairo, official comment was withheld while the Israeli offer was studied, but Arab League sources called it "useless." Since Israel was created, Arab leaders have rejected joint talks of any kind to avoid the implication that they recognize the Jewish state.

One Arab League source said Palestine is primarily a U.N. problem, and any serious peace proposal must come from there, not from a party involved in the dispute.

Egyptians Report Israeli Invasion

CAIRO, Egypt, Thursday, Nov. 3 (AP) — An Egyptian spokesman charged early today that Israeli forces have invaded Egyptian positions south of the El Auja-Nizana demilitarized zone. He said, "The battle is still going on."

The Israeli assault began last night, the spokesman said. He identified the battle area as an Egyptian position called Safha, south of El Auja. This apparently is an Egyptian frontier post.



Widow's Tribute To Woodward

Duchess Faces Possible Quiz In Woodward Case

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—An array of the socially prominent including the Duchess of Windsor tonight faced eventual questioning in the fatal shooting of millionaire William Woodward Jr. by his wife.

Authorities said they wanted to talk with everyone of the 60 persons who attended a party with the Woodwards just hours before the tragedy. The duchess, wife of the former King of England, was the guest of honor.

Meanwhile, more than 1,000 persons prominent in society, finance, and sports attended funeral services in New York City for Woodward, 35, owner of the fabulous racehorse, Nashua.

Widow's Flowers On Casket

Across his mahogany casket lay a blanket of red and white flowers —his racing colors—ordered by his bitterly weeping widow from her hospital bed.

The blonde Ann Woodward, 39, former model and radio actress, has been suffering from shock since she shot her husband in the early morning darkness last Sunday in their Oyster Bay home. She said she mistook him for a prowler.

The widow pleaded with her physician to be allowed to attend the funeral—asking him to give her some kind of medicine to bolster her up if need be—but he refused.

Discord Reported

While the services went on, Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta told newsmen every one of the guests who attended a Saturday night party at the Long Island estate of wealthy Mrs. George F. Baker would be interrogated.

The authorities presumably wanted to know if the guests could shed any light on the words or actions of the Woodwards just prior to the shooting.

Some sources have said the couple quarreled violently in the past and had discussed divorce or separation. They have been described, however, as having been on good terms, and even "lovey dovey" at the Saturday night social.

Suicide-Bent Whales Storm Fla. Beach

MELBOURNE, Fla., Nov. 2 (AP)—A school of small whales, apparently committing suicide, stormed through the surf to shore today and 53 of the mammals were stranded on the sand or thrashed in the shallows.

They were pilot whales, or blackfish, and ranged in weight from about a ton to small calves of about 100 pounds. Air-breathers, they may live for long periods out of water.

One of the calves was placed back in the water several times but swam back to shore.

Negroes Sought In Tot's Kidnaping

EAST MEADOW, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Police said today four Negro women and two Negro men are believed to be the kidnapers of blond 3-year-old Stephen Damman who disappeared from in front of a Long Island supermarket Monday.

Detective Inspector Stuyvesant Pennell told a news conference:

"Information has come to us which we believe to be the first definite information which may lead to the restoration of the boy to his parents."

He said a white woman he did not identify saw the Negroes make off with the white youngster. The white woman was parked in front of the supermarket waiting for her daughter, who was shopping inside.

Kamin Contempt Counts Reduced

BOSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Bailey Aldrich, upholding defense contentions that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) asked questions beyond the scope of his authority, today acquitted Leon J. Kamin on two contempt counts and dismissed two other counts of a six-count indictment.

The action, taken before counsel for the 27-year-old former Harvard research assistant began presenting his defense, left only two counts standing against him.

The charges on which Kamin was acquitted concerned Kamin's refusal to answer, at a one-man subcommittee hearing conducted by McCarthy in Boston on Jan. 15, 1954, whether he knew any Communists teaching at or "connected with" Harvard.

McCarthy's questions were too broad and not pertinent, the judge said, adding that the senator, sitting as a one-man subcommittee, "had no right to engage in a general 'fishing expedition.'"

McCarthy's questions asking Kamin if he knew anyone "connected with Harvard" who had been a Communist "was so manifestly outside the admitted scope of the inquiry, both as to persons and as to time," the court said, "that I am surprised the government has required the defendant to stand trial on his refusal to answer."

Two Fliers Die In Plane Crash Between Homes

EAST MEADOW, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP) — A twin-engined Air Force bomber crashed amid a row of small private homes here today, heavily damaging one of them. By a miracle, only the two airmen aboard the plane were killed.

The B26 medium bomber was returning to Mitchel Air Force Base after a routine training flight when it went into what was described as a "flat spin." It crashed in the front yard of a one-story Cape Cod house in the middle of a block.

Family Not At Home

The scene is about a mile and a half east of Mitchel Field.

The owner of the house, Paul Koroluck, a newspaper compositor, was at work. His wife, Susan, had been visiting her mother with her 2-year-old daughter and was on her way home.

A number of children were playing in the street as the bomber plunged out of the bright lake afternoon autumn sky. Within a few feet of where the bomber hit, a neighbor was raking his lawn.

Despite the neighborhood activity in the path of the descending bomber, no civilians were injured.

Fire Spreads To House

The plane caught fire and the flames spread to the Koroluck home, badly damaging it. Water further damaged the dwelling as firemen extinguished the blaze.

The Air Force identified the dead airmen as Capt. Clayton S. Elwood, 39, of Fairfield, Conn., the pilot, and S.Sgt. Charles R. Slater, 23, of Mitchel Field.

The neighborhood is just off busy arteries of traffic that criss-cross Long Island. It is a quiet street, with almost identical homes that are separated by driveways.

Investigator Clears FDR Of Pearl Harbor "Guilt"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)— The author of an official Army board report on the tragedy of Pearl Harbor told a congressional committee today the board found that the late President Roosevelt was in no "way, shape or form. . . guilty of Pearl Harbor."

The author, H. A. Toulmin Jr., Dayton, Ohio, and Washington attorney, volunteered the statement while testifying on antitrust matters at a House Small Business Committee meeting. Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif), son of the former President, is a committee member.

Toulmin was a member of the Army Pearl Harbor Board which investigated the sneak attack. After concluding his testimony on antitrust matters, Toulmin went entirely outside that subject to tell the committee:

"Everything appears of record in that (Pearl Harbor) report with one exception which I would mention as long as I am before Congress under oath. Mr. Roosevelt (James) will be interested in this: I made a finding and submitted it to the board and it was concurred in by the board, but it was not put into the report because they thought it was indelicate for them to comment on the President of the United States, your father.

"I made a finding that there was not a scrap of information, not a fact, not an inference, in any way, shape or form, that showed Mr. Roosevelt was guilty of Pearl Harbor. I'm glad to make that of public record."

Soviets Call For Gradual Unification

All-German Council Proposed To Clear Way For Merger

GENEVA, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Soviet Union advanced a proposal today for gradual merger of East and West Germany. The three Western foreign ministers promptly rejected it and repeated their demand for free elections to unify Germany.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov also revived an old Soviet proposal for withdrawal of foreign armed forces from divided Germany and set a new three-month deadline for it. The West immediately turned a cold shoulder to this idea.

The merger plan would be built around an all-German Council from the two parliaments in East and West Germany. Arguing that this was the only way to tackle the unity problem, Molotov proposed to the Big Four foreign ministers conference:

1. Formation of an All-German Council as a "consultative body."

Council Would Set Policy

2. Under the council, mixed committees from the two governments would deal with economic and cultural ties, including German currency, intra-German financial transactions, customs, post and telegraph, and transport.

3. The council "shall bring about accord" on the strength, armaments and location of forces to defend the two republics' frontiers and territories.

4. The council "shall bring about accord" on the republics' participation in European security measures and "shall consider by mutual agreement" questions relating to "the bringing about of prerequisites for the unification of Germany as a peaceful and democratic state."

Proposals Draw Fire

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan declared, "The Soviet zone proposals are an unparalleled diktat (dictate), far more drastic than the provisions of any previous treaty.

"The West wants, and all the four powers here are committed to work for, an independent, united Germany free to choose its home and foreign policies."

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told Molotov that "only by free elections can the wishes of the German people be ascertained."

French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay assailed Molotov's contention that the "social achievements" by the East German Communist regime should be a model for West Germany.

"Three million Germans have fled from that Eastern 'paradise' since 1945," Pinay said.

Vest Pocket War Flares Off China

TAIPEI, Formosa, Thursday, Nov. 3 (AP)—An air-sea battle and artillery duels roared along the offshore island front yesterday in a sudden flareup of China's dormant vest pocket war.

The Nationalists claimed their Thunderjets sank nine Red gunboats and other craft despite a storm of antiaircraft fire from the ships and Red guns on the mainland.

Communist ships had been reported massing in Santuao inlet, 25 miles north of the Matsu group where the Nationalist garrison this week was put on the alert for a possible Red invasion.

An air force communique said two formations of Thunderjets were dispatched from Formosa and rained napalm (fire) bombs and rockets on the concentration.

The communique said six gunboats and other unidentified armed craft and three large wooden ships were destroyed. Pilots reported great clouds of smoke rose from the scene.

Late in the afternoon, Red artillery from the mainland and an adjacent island opened up on strongly fortified Quemoy Island, 120 miles across the strait from Formosa.

The physics award goes jointly to Dr. Willis E. Lamb of Stanford University and Dr. Polykarp Kusch of Columbia University. They will split $36,720 for work in connection with atomic measurements. Their work corrected an error made by a Briton who previously won the Nobel prize.

The prizes, announced by the Royal Swedish Academy of Science, will be presented by King Gustaf Adolf here Dec. 10. The awards were created by the will of Alfred Nobel, inventor of dynamite.

Dr. Du Vigneaud, born in Chicago 54 years ago, was the first scientist to take apart and put together a hormone produced by the pituitary gland. Nobel authorities described his work on the two substances—oxytocin and vasopressin—as "a historic feat in biochemistry."

The work that won the physics prize for Dr. Lamb, 42, and Dr. Kusch, 44, was described by the Academy as a major advance toward learning what goes on inside the atom. It enabled scientists to calculate correctly the properties of some of its component parts.

Peron Lands In Rio, Then Heads North

Destination Said To Be Nicaragua; May Go To Europe

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil, Nov. 2 (AP)—Juan D. Peron broke off his exile in Paraguay today and flew to Brazil. His ultimate destination was announced as Nicaragua, but speculation arose that the deposed President of Argentina might be heading for Europe.

Officials in Paraguay provided a plane for him and breathed a sigh of relief. Insisting on anonymity, they said his departure relieved them of many worries. But they insisted it was Peron's own idea.

In Rio Three Hours

The Paraguayan army DC4 halted in Rio de Janeiro three hours, landing in a military section of the airport closed to the public, and then headed northward. An air force captain quoted Peron as saying he was going to Nicaragua, as had been announced in Paraguay—but it wasn't clear why he was traveling around Brazil's hump when he could go to Nicaragua on a more direct route via Lima, Peru. Indeed, Lima had been announced in Paraguay as his immediate goal.

In northeastern Brazil there are several large bases from which planes take off for Europe.

In Managua, President Anastasio Somoza told The Associated Press that Peron would be welcome to take asylum in Nicaragua. But he said he had no knowledge of the former dictator's plans.

11 Pieces Of Luggage

The deposed dictator went to Paraguay from Argentina as a political refugee last month. He was moved from Asuncion, the capital, to Villarica 150 miles away when the new Argentine government protested against his presence close to the Argentine border.

Peron drove back to the capital last night and took off at dawn with a bodyguard and 11 pieces of luggage. A few Paraguayan officials, none of Cabinet rank, saw him off.

Peron's presence in Paraguay caused dissent within the Paraguayan government and strained relations with Argentina.

Peace Talk Bid Sent To Arabs By Ben-Gurion

JERUSALEM, Israel Sector, Nov. 2 (AP)—Israel's Premier offered today to talk peace with the Arab nations.

In his first speech since returning to the premiership after two years' retirement, David Ben-Gurion told Parliament there is "no real reason for an Israel-Egyptian conflict, but on the contrary there is a fruitful basis for cooperation between the two peoples."

"Israel is ready for a lasting and enduring peace settlement and for long-term political, economic and cultural co-operation between Israel and its neighbors," he said.

"If the other side is not ready for that yet, we would also agree to a limited settlement providing for the insurance of the full implementation of the armistice agreements, mutual elimination of all incidents and acts of hostility, boycott and blockade, observance of freedom of the seas and any additional arrangements agreeable to both sides.

"The government of Egypt and other Arab rulers now have the opportunity to show the world what they really want: war or peace."

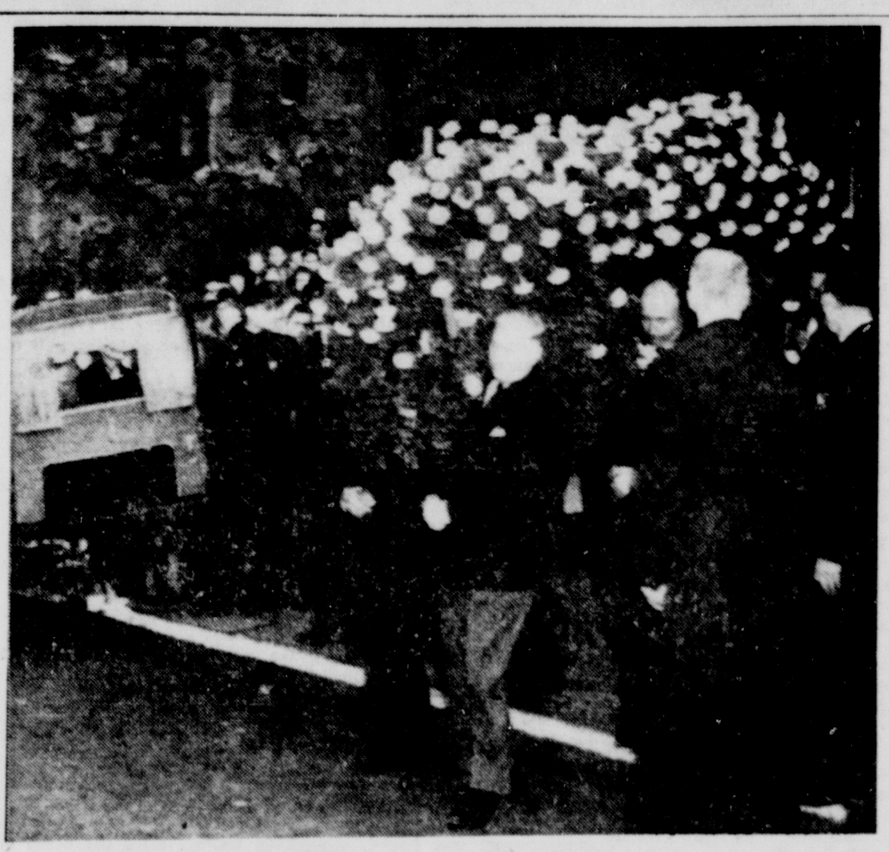
In Cairo, official comment was withheld while the Israeli offer was studied, but Arab League sources called it "useless." Since Israel was created, Arab leaders have rejected joint talks of any kind to avoid the implication that they recognize the Jewish state.

One Arab League source said Palestine is primarily a U.N. problem, and any serious peace proposal must come from there, not from a party involved in the dispute.

Egyptians Report Israeli Invasion

CAIRO, Egypt, Thursday, Nov. 3 (AP) — An Egyptian spokesman charged early today that Israeli forces have invaded Egyptian positions south of the El Auja-Nizana demilitarized zone. He said, "The battle is still going on."

The Israeli assault began last night, the spokesman said. He identified the battle area as an Egyptian position called Safha, south of El Auja. This apparently is an Egyptian frontier post.



Widow's Tribute To Woodward

Duchess Faces Possible Quiz In Woodward Case

MINEOLA, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—An array of the socially prominent including the Duchess of Windsor tonight faced eventual questioning in the fatal shooting of millionaire William Woodward Jr. by his wife.

Authorities said they wanted to talk with everyone of the 60 persons who attended a party with the Woodwards just hours before the tragedy. The duchess, wife of the former King of England, was the guest of honor.

Meanwhile, more than 1,000 persons prominent in society, finance, and sports attended funeral services in New York City for Woodward, 35, owner of the fabulous racehorse, Nashua.

Widow's Flowers On Casket

Across his mahogany casket lay a blanket of red and white flowers—his racing colors—ordered by his bitterly weeping widow from her hospital bed.

The blonde Ann Woodward, 39, former model and radio actress, has been suffering from shock since she shot her husband in the early morning darkness last Sunday in their Oyster Bay home. She said she mistook him for a prowler.

The widow pleaded with her physician to be allowed to attend the funeral—asking him to give her some kind of medicine to bolster her up if need be—but he refused.

Discord Reported

While the services went on, Dist. Atty. Frank Gulotta told newsmen every one of the guests who attended a Saturday night party at the Long Island estate of wealthy Mrs. George F. Baker would be interrogated.

The authorities presumably wanted to know if the guests could shed any light on the words or actions of the Woodwards just prior to the shooting.

Some sources have said the couple quarreled violently in the past and had discussed divorce or separation. They have been described, however, as having been on good terms, and even "lovey dovey" at the Saturday night social.

Suicide-Bent Whales Storm Fla. Beach

MELBOURNE, Fla., Nov. 2 (AP)—A school of small whales, apparently committing suicide, stormed through the surf to shore today and 53 of the mammals were stranded on the sand or thrashed in the shallows.

They were pilot whales, or blackfish, and ranged in weight from about a ton to small calves of about 100 pounds. Air-breathers, they may live for long periods out of water.

One of the calves was placed back in the water several times but swam back to shore.

Negroes Sought In Tot's Kidnaping

EAST MEADOW, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP)—Police said today four Negro women and two Negro men are believed to be the kidnapers of blond 3-year-old Stephen Damman who disappeared from in front of a Long Island supermarket Monday.

Detective Inspector Stuyvesant Pennell told a news conference:

"Information has come to us which we believe to be the first definite information which may lead to the restoration of the boy to his parents."

He said a white woman he did not identify saw the Negroes make off with the white youngster. The white woman was parked in front of the supermarket waiting for her daughter, who was shopping inside.

Kamin Contempt Counts Reduced

BOSTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—U. S. Dist. Judge Bailey Aldrich, upholding defense contentions that Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) asked questions beyond the scope of his authority, today acquitted Leon J. Kamin on two contempt counts and dismissed two other counts of a six-count indictment.

The action, taken before counsel for the 27-year-old former Harvard research assistant began presenting his defense, left only two counts standing against him.

The charges on which Kamin was acquitted concerned Kamin's refusal to answer, at a one-man subcommittee hearing conducted by McCarthy in Boston on Jan. 15, 1954, whether he knew any Communists teaching at or "connected with" Harvard.

McCarthy's questions were too broad and not pertinent, the judge said, adding that the senator, sitting as a one-man subcommittee, "had no right to engage in a general 'fishing expedition.'"

McCarthy's questions asking Kamin if he knew anyone "connected with Harvard" who had been a Communist "was so manifestly outside the admitted scope of the inquiry, both as to persons and as to time," the court said, "that I am surprised the government has required the defendant to stand trial on his refusal to answer."

EAST MEADOW, N.Y., Nov. 2 (AP) — A twin-engined Air Force bomber crashed amid a row of small private homes here today, heavily damaging one of them. By a miracle, only the two airmen aboard the plane were killed.

The B26 medium bomber was returning to Mitchel Air Force Base after a routine training flight when it went into what was described as a "flat spin." It crashed in the front yard of a one-story Cape Cod house in the middle of a block.

Family Not At Home

The scene is about a mile and a half east of Mitchel Field.

The owner of the house, Paul Koroluck, a newspaper compositor, was at work. His wife, Susan, had been visiting her mother with her 2-year-old daughter and was on her way home.

A number of children were playing in the street as the bomber plunged out of the bright lake afternoon autumn sky. Within a few feet of where the bomber hit, a neighbor was raking his lawn.

Despite the neighborhood activity in the path of the descending bomber, no civilians were injured.

Fire Spreads To House

The plane caught fire and the flames spread to the Koroluck home, badly damaging it. Water further damaged the dwelling as firemen extinguished the blaze.

The Air Force identified the dead airmen as Capt. Clayton S. Elwood, 39, of Fairfield, Conn., the pilot, and S.Sgt. Charles R. Slater, 23, of Mitchel Field.

The neighborhood is just off busy arteries of traffic that criss-cross Long Island. It is a quiet street, with almost identical homes that are separated by driveways.

Investigator Clears FDR Of Pearl Harbor "Guilt"

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)— The author of an official Army board report on the tragedy of Pearl Harbor told a congressional committee today the board found that the late President Roosevelt was in no "way, shape or form. . . guilty of Pearl Harbor."

The author, H. A. Toulmin Jr., Dayton, Ohio, and Washington attorney, volunteered the statement while testifying on antitrust matters at a House Small Business Committee meeting. Rep. James Roosevelt (D-Calif), son of the former President, is a committee member.

Toulmin was a member of the Army Pearl Harbor Board which investigated the sneak attack. After concluding his testimony on antitrust matters, Toulmin went entirely outside that subject to tell the committee:

"Everything appears of record in that (Pearl Harbor) report with one exception which I would mention as long as I am before Congress under oath. Mr. Roosevelt (James) will be interested in this: I made a finding and submitted it to the board and it was concurred in by the board, but it was not put into the report because they thought it was indelicate for them to comment on the President of the United States, your father.

"I made a finding that there was not a scrap of information, not a fact, not an inference, in any way, shape or form, that showed Mr. Roosevelt was guilty of Pearl Harbor. I'm glad to make that of public record."

Soviets Call For Gradual Unification

All-German Council Proposed To Clear Way For Merger

GENEVA, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Soviet Union advanced a proposal today for gradual merger of East and West Germany. The three Western foreign ministers promptly rejected it and repeated their demand for free elections to unify Germany.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov also revived an old Soviet proposal for withdrawal of foreign armed forces from divided Germany and set a new three-month deadline for it. The West immediately turned a cold shoulder to this idea.

The merger plan would be built around an all-German Council from the two parliaments in East and West Germany. Arguing that this was the only way to tackle the unity problem, Molotov proposed to the Big Four foreign ministers conference:

1. Formation of an All-German Council as a "consultative body."

Council Would Set Policy

2. Under the council, mixed committees from the two governments would deal with economic and cultural ties, including German currency, intra-German financial transactions, customs, post and telegraph, and transport.

3. The council "shall bring about accord" on the strength, armaments and location of forces to defend the two republics' frontiers and territories.

4. The council "shall bring about accord" on the republics' participation in European security measures and "shall consider by mutual agreement" questions relating to "the bringing about of prerequisites for the unification of Germany as a peaceful and democratic state."

Proposals Draw Fire

British Foreign Secretary Harold Macmillan declared, "The Soviet zone proposals are an unparalleled diktat (dictate), far more drastic than the provisions of any previous treaty.

"The West wants, and all the four powers here are committed to work for, an independent, united Germany free to choose its home and foreign policies."

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles told Molotov that "only by free elections can the wishes of the German people be ascertained."

French Foreign Minister Antoine Pinay assailed Molotov's contention that the "social achievements" by the East German Communist regime should be a model for West Germany.

"Three million Germans have fled from that Eastern 'paradise' since 1945," Pinay said.

Vest Pocket War Flares Off China

TAIPEI, Formosa, Thursday, Nov. 3 (AP)—An air-sea battle and artillery duels roared along the offshore island front yesterday in a sudden flareup of China's dormant vest pocket war.

The Nationalists claimed their Thunderjets sank nine Red gunboats and other craft despite a storm of antiaircraft fire from the ships and Red guns on the mainland.

Communist ships had been reported massing in Santuao inlet, 25 miles north of the Matsu group where the Nationalist garrison this week was put on the alert for a possible Red invasion.

An air force communique said two formations of Thunderjets were dispatched from Formosa and rained napalm (fire) bombs and rockets on the concentration.

The communique said six gunboats and other unidentified armed craft and three large wooden ships were destroyed. Pilots reported great clouds of smoke rose from the scene.

Late in the afternoon, Red artillery from the mainland and an adjacent island opened up on strongly fortified Quemoy Island, 120 miles across the strait from Formosa.

Gasoline-Fed Fire Leaves 2 Missing

Storage Tanks Burn At Birmingham, Ala.

BIRMINGPORT, Ala., Nov. 2 (AP)—Fire started by an explosion raged through gasoline loading and storage facilities at this Warrior River port tonight, and two persons are missing.

Two large storage gasoline tanks were burning. Birmingham Fire Marshal A. Rosenfeld said, however, it appears the flames may be contained in the dock area.

Sgt. Lionel Freeman of the Alabama highway patrol reported that "it now looks as if the fire may be under control shortly."

Rosenfeld said that if the flames are confined to the loading area. "There is a possibility that the fire will burn another 24 hours."

No immediate estimate of damage was available.

The fire was believed to have started in the home of Felton Thrasher superintendent at the Triangle Refineries Co.

Thrasher's daughter, Tina May, is among those missing.

At nightfall, the flames were threatening truck-loading facilities and a huge storage tank which holds 90,000 barrels of high octane gasoline.

Firemen from Birmingham, Tennessee Coal and Iron Division of United States Steel, and the Hayes Aircraft Co. in Birmingham, helped fight the blaze.

Birmingport is approximately 25 miles west of Birmingham, and it is the northern terminus of the Warrior-Tombigbee river system, which extends southward to Mobile.

Thrasher, under treatment at a Birmingham hospital, said the blaze began in the kitchen of his home. He is suffering burns over most of his body.

Thrasher said the gas main which runs past his home broke, and fumes were ignited at his stove. He said his wife escaped the fire, but that his daughter was "burned up."

Truman Praise Given Harriman

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Former President Truman gives high praise to Averell Harriman, governor of New York and prominently mentioned Democratic presidential possibility, in the first volume of his memoirs, published today.

Truman says Harriman performed "vital service" as this country's World War II ambassador to Moscow, and he relates that Harriman gave him urgent personal advice that the United States must stand firm against a postwar Soviet "barbarian invasion of Europe."

"At this point," Truman relates, "I stopped Harriman to say that I was not afraid of the Russians and that I intended to be firm. I would be fair, of course, and anyway the Russians needed us more than we needed them."

Excerpts from the Truman memoirs have been published in Life magazine and the New York Times. The complete first volume, "Year of Decisions," is published by Doubleday & Co. ($5) and contains many added details.

Truman Braves Writer's Cramp

KANSAS CITY, Nov. 2 (AP)—Harry S. Truman braved writer's cramp and a floodlight squint today to help launch the sale of his memoirs.

He made his formal appearance as an author amid the fanfare of what was billed as an autographing party for the first edition of his work, "Year of Decisions."

Against a background of six American flags and flanked by floodlights for cameramen, he sat at a desk inscribing a bold and legible "Harry Truman" on the fly leaves of the books as the owners filed by.

He started out at a clip of one signature every six seconds, but interruptions left him with a net production of about 1,000 for the 2-hour-and-40 minute session.

Russia Reported To Have 400 Subs

LONDON, Thursday, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Russians have completed a considerable number of new submarines and now have at least 400, an authoritative naval publication reported today.

"Jane's Fighting Ships," reference book on naives of the world, said the Soviet Union "continues to build up a large fleet of cruisers, destroyers and submarines," but it made no mention of any Russian atomic-powered vessels.

Church Did Not Pressure Meg, Prelate Asserts

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury said tonight the Church of England put no pressure on Princess Margaret as she made her decision not to marry Peter Townsend.

In a television interview at his London palace just 48 hours after the Princess announced her decision, the archbishop said:

"In the end it was her own decision. There was no church pressure."

The primate, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, and the Anglican Church have come under heavy fire from many quarters for the stern stand they have taken against remarriage of divorced persons. Many Britons believe Margaret's decision was due largely to this stand.

The archbishop's statement was his first public reference to the romance the princess gave up for duty. Margaret called last Thursday at Lambeth Palace for a private talk with him. Some newspapers said her decision not to marry Townsend was reached that day.

The archbishop said Margaret's decision was "purely on grounds of conscience."

"She was seeking all the time for God's will and when it became clear what God's will was, she did it and that is not a bad thing for people in general to take note of," he added.

The prelate was participating in an "at home" visit by British Broadcasting Corp. TV cameras at historic Lambeth Palace, the London home of the archbishops of Canterbury.

Earlier tonight, the princess worshipped in St. Paul's Cathedral, her first public engagement since her announcement was issued. While women in the congregation wept softly she heard a white-robed bishop intone:

"To each life God speaks, calling us to a life of personal sacrifice."

Government Plans Antarctic Agency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The government disclosed today it plans to set up a separate unit with a long-range program for dealing with the increasingly strategic antarctic region.

Tentative plans already have been started for the project, launched by direction of President Eisenhower on recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Navy.

Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, the veteran polar explorer, was placed in charge of all U. S. antarctic activities with the responsibility of drafting a permanent program. One possibility for the future was the staking of U. S. claims to territory, a step consistently avoided in the past.

A letter to Byrd from Reuben B. Robertson, deputy secretary of defense, told of the plans. Byrd, although retired from active duty, is about to leave once again for the bottom of the globe as officer in charge of an expedition preparing for the International Geophysical Year in 1957-58.

'Honey Bear' Warren, Doctor Honeymoon

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 2 (AP)—Nina (Honey Bear) Warren, youngest daughter of Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren, is honeymooning today with Dr. Stuart Brien, Pittsburgh-born physician now of Beverly Hills, Calif.

The couple eloped last night. They were wed two minutes before midnight to mark, they said, the three-month observance of their meeting.

The bride is 22; Dr. Brien, 33.

The elopment came as a surprise. The couple had obtained a California marriage license in Santa Monica two days earlier and Nina said her parents would announce the wedding date.

But they flew here and were met by a hotel executive who hustled them to a courthouse for a Nevada license at 11:20 p.m.

Woman Who Cut Throat Critical

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 2 (AP)—State Police Trooper Carolton Lewis said tonight Mrs. Clara R. Stanley, 52-year-old woman found near her home with her throat cut, told him the wound was self-inflicted.

Trooper Lewis said he gathered from what Mrs. Stanley said that she had been despondent over the recent death of her husband.

Mrs. Stanley, who lives on Sideling Hill Mountain west of Hancock, was semiconscious at last report, and her condition was listed as critical.

She had been staying at the home of her brother, Grant Bishop, who lives nearby, since the death of her husband.

Bishop reported to police about 2 a. m. today that his sister was missing. Later in the morning, a neighbor, Mrs. Amos Flowers, found Mrs. Stanley lying among some bushes near the Bishop home. A butcher knife was found about 35 feet away.

Dietrich Paroled Under Strict Terms

BONN, Germany, Nov. 2 (AP)—Former Col. Gen. Sepp Dietrich was paroled "under most definite restrictions," and will go back to jail if he violates them.

This was announced today in a joint statement by the U. S. Embassy and Headquarters U. S. Army Europe.

Maryland Seeks PEPCO Plant

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The governors of Maryland and Virginia again have extended rival hands eager to guide the Potomac Electric Power Co. (PEPCO) in its decision on where to build a 100 million dollar plant.

PEPCO started a lot of hubbub with its original selection of a site in Loudoun County, Va., along the Potomac River. It put down a deposit of $24,000 on the 519-acre tract and the proposed generating plant gained some basic approvals from Loudoun officials.

There were complaints, however, from two main sources: (1) Army Engineers and Washington officials who expressed fears the generating plant would affect the Capital's water supply adversely, questions disputed by PEPCO engineers; and (2) Maryland officials interested in the taxes PEPCO would pay on the new operation.

The utility yesterday disclosed a final decision on the Loudoun site had been postponed through a 60-day extension of its option to buy the land.

R. Roy Dunn, PEPCO president, said the 60 days would give the company time to "review other locations" and the entire question of future power supply needs. PEPCO, he added, "had originally decided to be released from the contract" to buy the Loudoun land.

Lie Tests Exonerate Man In Boys' Slaying

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—A man returned from Wisconsin for questioning about the slaying of three schoolboys was cleared today in a lie detector test.

The same test indicated his companion had no connection with the killings.

Charles Driscoll, 19, underwent the test—his second—with the device and was exonerated.

Ed Kline, 30, Driscoll's companion, also took a lie detector test. Officials termed the results inconclusive and said Kline was very nervous and gave a variety of answers to the same question.

DETROIT, Nov. 2 (AP)—Charles Birchfield, 24, screeched his car to a stop and called to two rookie policemen walking their beat.

Birchfield excitedly explained his wife, Opal, 22, was about to have a baby in the back seat of the automobile.

Patrolman Edward Krajewski, 24, quickly slid behind the steering wheel, while Patrolman Gaylord Golding, 24, got in the back to assist the expectant mother. Thus, they sped off—leaving the prospective father stranded on a curb.

Mrs. Birchfield got to the hospital ahead of the stork. Papa—via police scout car—a few minutes after his daughter had arrived.

Senate Group Asks Newsprint Reports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(INS)—The Senate Banking Committee asked two government agencies today to prepare reports on the five-dollar-a-ton boost in newsprint prices recently ordered by Canadian producers.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R) Md., said the request was made by Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D) Ark., to the Commerce Department and to the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Beall, who has called for hearings on the newsprint price rise, said that the two agencies will furnish complete information on the production-price situation in the newsprint industry.

Fulbright said he wants the reports from the government "in order to give a basis for deciding whether hearings would prove of help in this situation."

U. S. newspaper executives have bitterly denounced the price rise and some have predicted that it may result in a new increase in the cost of newspapers.

He made his formal appearance as an author amid the fanfare of what was billed as an autographing party for the first edition of his work, "Year of Decisions."

Against a background of six American flags and flanked by floodlights for cameramen, he sat at a desk inscribing a bold and legible "Harry Truman" on the fly leaves of the books as the owners filed by.

He started out at a clip of one signature every six seconds, but interruptions left him with a net production of about 1,000 for the 2-hour-and-40 minute session.

Russia Reported To Have 400 Subs

LONDON, Thursday, Nov. 3 (AP)—The Russians have completed a considerable number of new submarines and now have at least 400, an authoritative naval publication reported today.

"Jane's Fighting Ships," reference book on naives of the world, said the Soviet Union "continues to build up a large fleet of cruisers, destroyers and submarines," but it made no mention of any Russian atomic-powered vessels.

Church Did Not Pressure Meg, Prelate Asserts

LONDON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The Archbishop of Canterbury said tonight the Church of England put no pressure on Princess Margaret as she made her decision not to marry Peter Townsend.

In a television interview at his London palace just 48 hours after the Princess announced her decision, the archbishop said:

"In the end it was her own decision. There was no church pressure."

The primate, Dr. Geoffrey Fisher, and the Anglican Church have come under heavy fire from many quarters for the stern stand they have taken against remarriage of divorced persons. Many Britons believe Margaret's decision was due largely to this stand.

The archbishop's statement was his first public reference to the romance the princess gave up for duty. Margaret called last Thursday at Lambeth Palace for a private talk with him. Some newspapers said her decision not to marry Townsend was reached that day.

The archbishop said Margaret's decision was "purely on grounds of conscience."

"She was seeking all the time for God's will and when it became clear what God's will was, she did it and that is not a bad thing for people in general to take note of," he added.

The prelate was participating in an "at home" visit by British Broadcasting Corp. TV cameras at historic Lambeth Palace, the London home of the archbishops of Canterbury.

Earlier tonight, the princess worshipped in St. Paul's Cathedral, her first public engagement since her announcement was issued. While women in the congregation wept softly she heard a white-robed bishop intone:

"To each life God speaks, calling us to a life of personal sacrifice."

Government Plans Antarctic Agency

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The government disclosed today it plans to set up a separate unit with a long-range program for dealing with the increasingly strategic antarctic region.

Tentative plans already have been started for the project, launched by direction of President Eisenhower on recommendation of the Joint Chiefs of Staff and the Navy.

Rear Adm. Richard E. Byrd, the veteran polar explorer, was placed in charge of all U. S. antarctic activities with the responsibility of drafting a permanent program. One possibility for the future was the staking of U. S. claims to territory, a step consistently avoided in the past.

A letter to Byrd from Reuben B. Robertson, deputy secretary of defense, told of the plans. Byrd, although retired from active duty, is about to leave once again for the bottom of the globe as officer in charge of an expedition preparing for the International Geophysical Year in 1957-58.

'Honey Bear' Warren, Doctor Honeymoon

LAS VEGAS, Nev., Nov. 2 (AP)—Nina (Honey Bear) Warren, youngest daughter of Chief Justice and Mrs. Earl Warren, is honeymooning today with Dr. Stuart Brien, Pittsburgh-born physician now of Beverly Hills, Calif.

The couple eloped last night. They were wed two minutes before midnight to mark, they said, the three-month observance of their meeting.

The bride is 22; Dr. Brien, 33.

The elopment came as a surprise. The couple had obtained a California marriage license in Santa Monica two days earlier and Nina said her parents would announce the wedding date.

But they flew here and were met by a hotel executive who hustled them to a courthouse for a Nevada license at 11:20 p.m.

Woman Who Cut Throat Critical

HAGERSTOWN, Nov. 2 (AP)—State Police Trooper Carolton Lewis said tonight Mrs. Clara R. Stanley, 52-year-old woman found near her home with her throat cut, told him the wound was self-inflicted.

Trooper Lewis said he gathered from what Mrs. Stanley said that she had been despondent over the recent death of her husband.

Mrs. Stanley, who lives on Sideling Hill Mountain west of Hancock, was semiconscious at last report, and her condition was listed as critical.

She had been staying at the home of her brother, Grant Bishop, who lives nearby, since the death of her husband.

Bishop reported to police about 2 a. m. today that his sister was missing. Later in the morning, a neighbor, Mrs. Amos Flowers, found Mrs. Stanley lying among some bushes near the Bishop home. A butcher knife was found about 35 feet away.

Dietrich Paroled Under Strict Terms

BONN, Germany, Nov. 2 (AP)—Former Col. Gen. Sepp Dietrich was paroled "under most definite restrictions," and will go back to jail if he violates them.

This was announced today in a joint statement by the U. S. Embassy and Headquarters U. S. Army Europe.

Maryland Seeks PEPCO Plant

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—The governors of Maryland and Virginia again have extended rival hands eager to guide the Potomac Electric Power Co. (PEPCO) in its decision on where to build a 100 million dollar plant.

PEPCO started a lot of hubbub with its original selection of a site in Loudoun County, Va., along the Potomac River. It put down a deposit of $24,000 on the 519-acre tract and the proposed generating plant gained some basic approvals from Loudoun officials.

There were complaints, however, from two main sources: (1) Army Engineers and Washington officials who expressed fears the generating plant would affect the Capital's water supply adversely, questions disputed by PEPCO engineers; and (2) Maryland officials interested in the taxes PEPCO would pay on the new operation.

The utility yesterday disclosed a final decision on the Loudoun site had been postponed through a 60-day extension of its option to buy the land.

R. Roy Dunn, PEPCO president, said the 60 days would give the company time to "review other locations" and the entire question of future power supply needs. PEPCO, he added, "had originally decided to be released from the contract" to buy the Loudoun land.

Lie Tests Exonerate Man In Boys' Slaying

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—A man returned from Wisconsin for questioning about the slaying of three schoolboys was cleared today in a lie detector test.

The same test indicated his companion had no connection with the killings.

Charles Driscoll, 19, underwent the test—his second—with the device and was exonerated.

Ed Kline, 30, Driscoll's companion, also took a lie detector test. Officials termed the results inconclusive and said Kline was very nervous and gave a variety of answers to the same question.

DETROIT, Nov. 2 (AP)—Charles Birchfield, 24, screeched his car to a stop and called to two rookie policemen walking their beat.

Birchfield excitedly explained his wife, Opal, 22, was about to have a baby in the back seat of the automobile.

Patrolman Edward Krajewski, 24, quickly slid behind the steering wheel, while Patrolman Gaylord Golding, 24, got in the back to assist the expectant mother. Thus, they sped off—leaving the prospective father stranded on a curb.

Mrs. Birchfield got to the hospital ahead of the stork. Papa—via police scout car—a few minutes after his daughter had arrived.

Senate Group Asks Newsprint Reports

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—(INS)—The Senate Banking Committee asked two government agencies today to prepare reports on the five-dollar-a-ton boost in newsprint prices recently ordered by Canadian producers.

Sen. J. Glenn Beall (R) Md., said the request was made by Committee Chairman J. William Fulbright (D) Ark., to the Commerce Department and to the Office of Defense Mobilization.

Beall, who has called for hearings on the newsprint price rise, said that the two agencies will furnish complete information on the production-price situation in the newsprint industry.

Fulbright said he wants the reports from the government "in order to give a basis for deciding whether hearings would prove of help in this situation."

U. S. newspaper executives have bitterly denounced the price rise and some have predicted that it may result in a new increase in the cost of newspapers.

GOP Poll Takers Conclude Majority Of People Who Voted For Ike In '52 Feel U.S. More Prosperous Now

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP)—Republican poll takers concluded today that a wide majority of people who voted for Eisenhower in 1952 feel the country is more prosperous now than then and are well satisfied with administration foreign and defense policies.

The survey found that many Eisenhower supporters—especially in the Midwest—don't feel that they personally are any better off.

The Republican National Committee distributed the results of the poll sampling, which was done by GOP women. The announcement said that among voters who backed Adlai Stevenson in 1952 a majority of those polled approve current foreign policy and military strength. But the figures indicated that far fewer than half of the Stevenson voters polled feel any more secure, either with the nation's defenses or economic well-being, than they did in 1952.

The women's division of the Republican National Committee reported 15,000 precinct workers conducted 250,000 interviews on Sept. 29 in every state but Connecticut, where preoccupation with flood conditions cancelled the poll. Miss Bertha Adkins, GOP women's director, announced the results.

One announced objective of the survey was to tap grassroots sentiment, and samplings in the Midwest seemed to bear out forecasts that the economic status of farmers will be a prime election issue in 1956.

Whereas nationally 61.6 per cent of Eisenhower voters questioned were recorded as feeling the country at large is better off economically, only 49 per cent said they personally were better off. Some 44.2 per cent felt about the same, 6.8 per cent considered their situation worse.

In New England, the MidAtlantic, Border and Southern states, a majority of Eisenhower voters listed themselves as better off. But in 11 Midwestern states, only 44.3 per cent were so tabbed and in 11 Western states the percentage was 47.1, both below the national average.

Peace, military strength and prosperity were key points raised in the poll. Nearly twice as many women as men were questioned.

As to what kind of job the administration was doing with other governments to obtain "a just and lasting peace," 81.9 per cent of the Eisenhower voters replied good, 16.7 fair, and 1.4 poor. Among Stevenson voters the verdict was recorded as 51.4 good, 41.3 fair and 7.3 poor. And among those who voted for neither 66.1 per cent said good, 29.0 fair and 4.7 poor.

A majority were reported to believe this country has adequate military strength—Eisenhower voters—65.4 per cent and Stevenson voters 55.6.

A majority of Eisenhower voters, 71 per cent said they have felt more secure about "the state of our national defenses" since 1952.

Only 35.5 per cent of Stevenson voters expressed that opinion—50.8 per cent felt "about the same."

The announcement said that among Stevenson supporters, 25.1 per cent considered themselves better off—57.7 about the same—and 31.8 per cent regarded people the country over as in better circumstances—52.2 about the same.

Minister Resigns Over Racial Issue

BATESBURG, S. C., Nov. 2 (AP)—The Rev. George Jackson Stafford, 34, pastor of the First Baptist Church here, has resigned following what has been called an "informal dispute" with some congregation members over race segregation.

U. S. Dist. Judge George Bell Timmerman Sr. is chairman of the church's board of deacons. His son, Gov. George Bell Timmerman Jr. is a member of the congregation but has not attended the church since moving to Columbia when he became governor last January.

Judge Timmerman, who now lives in Columbia, confirmed that Stafford's resignation followed an "informal dispute."

He said Stafford entertains "broad views" on segregation and agrees with advocates of integration in the public schools.

The resignation was accepted by the congregation Oct. 23.

Dead Preacher Fails To Keep Promise

CHICAGO, Nov. 2 (AP)—A preacher who died March 28 apparently has failed to keep his promise to return to life, thus sparing himself a possibly painful run-in with the tax collectors.

The U. S. government today laid a claim against the quarter-million dollar estate of Ishi J. Depaz, leader of the New Haven Sanctuary in the honky-tonk West Madison St. district.

Depaz had assured some of his followers that he would be back. But he added these instructions:

"In the event that I do not return from eternity in 30 days, after the Almighty talks face to face with me, my will is to be made public."

The will leaves two-thirds of his estate to Thelma Louise Greer, who Depaz described as his wife "in the sight of God;" $5,000 each to Depaz' dentist, secretary and a woman described as "my friend and confidante," and the remainder to "six mothers and six brothers" described as "crowned members" of the sanctuary.

A court battle over the money is brewing among the persons named in the will and other parties. Two of Depaz' relatives from his native Jamaica also claim the estate.

Legislative Subcommittee Says Tax Boost Only Solution To State Financial Troubles

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP) — A Legislative subcommittee suggested today a variety of solutions for Maryland's financial difficulties. Taxpayers could find no encouragement in any of them.

The subcommittee told the Legislative Council the use in recent years of non-recurring tax windfalls "have simply deferred our rendezvous with a permanent and realistic tax increase."

In other words, taxes must go up.

The subcommittee composed of Del. Lee (D-Montgomery), Sen. Flanagan (R-Carroll) and Del. Meyers (D-Balto 6th) said the easiest way to raise the money needed to balance the Maryland budget would be to raise the sales and income tax rates, "but it is not necessarily the best way."

The subcommittee, which worked on the problem of State finances for several months, did not recommend any "best" way to raise the needed money, but it suggested a number of alternatives including:

Replacing the flat rate State income tax with a graduated rate scale which could increase revenues from $5,343,000 to $17,203,000 depending on rates and graduations.

Amending the sales tax law in a number of ways, including a lower minimum taxable sale, a higher rate, and a removal of exemptions. The proposed amendments could produce anywhere from $250,000 to $22,100,000 in additional revenue.

A statewide tax on cigarettes and tobacco, with localities which now levy such taxes sharing in the proceeds.

A "modest" increase in the State racing tax and an extension of racing dates.

An increase in the 4½ per cent corporation net income rate.

Increased taxes on liquor, wines and beer.

The subcommittee commented that Maryland's present tax structure is "generally sound," but it said there are a few "glaring inequities" that suggest "effective work by interested lobbies."

Among its general recommendations, the committee proposed that:

The governor publish his tax proposals by Jan. 1 to give the Legislature time to study them before the forthcoming 30-day session.

The Legislative Council establish a permanent committee on tax and revenue problems.

The budget specify what money is used for State purposes and what goes back to the subdivisions.

Gov. McKeldin's Support Sought For Island Pack

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 2 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin is to be asked to support a move to set aside part of Assateague Island near Ocean City as a public seaside park.

William E. Green, Snow Hill, governmental affairs committee chairman of the Worcester County Development Assn., said the governor's support would be sought.

The island is 15 miles of virgin Atlantic Coast beach just south of Ocean City. Part of it is already being developed by realtors.

Green said "we're going to invite the governor and other high state officials to tour the island."

Sen. Ralph Mason of Newark said the attorney general's opinion will be sought on whether a proposal can be introduced at the next session of the legislature leading to establishment of the park.

The 1956 session of the legislature is limited to matters of statewide significance.

The so-called Worcester County Authority bill died in the senate this year after getting through the house. It provides for construction of a bridge from the mainland over Sinepuxent Bay to the island and establishment of recreation facilities for use by the public.

17-Year-Old Youth Dies In Auto Crash

OXON HILL, Md., Nov. 2 (AP)—William George Warren, 17, of Friendly, Md., was killed early today when his car careened off a curve on Livingston Road.

Two passengers received minor injuries.

Police said Warren's car hit a pole after it failed to take a curve and overturned.

Several orchids are among the nearly 500 varieties of wild flowers, ferns and shrubs growing in the Yukon territory.

Search Of River Yields No Trace Of W. Va. Senator

RIPLEY, W. Va., Nov. 2 (AP) — There still was no trace today of 43-year-old Brad Sayre, state senator and garage owner who disappeared Monday, leaving a letter to his brother behind.

King Sayre said the registered letter he received was in his brother's handwriting and was postmarked at 12:30 p.m. Monday from Charleston. The letter said the Ripley Republican intended to take his own life and his body would be found in the Kanawha River east of Charleston.

Charleson firemen made a search yesterday without results and said it would not be resumed unless something more tangible is reported.

King Sayre said he understood his brother had planned a trip to Cincinnati to get a new car.

Woman Testifies She Took $100,000 And Not $395,000

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP)—Mrs. Naomi Ringrose testified today it was between $80,000 and $100,000 —not $395,000—that she stole from a credit union.

Mrs. Ringrose already is serving a five-year Federal prison sentence at Alderson, W. Va., for embezzlement.

She was on the stand today as witness in a civil suit by which the credit union is trying to get $395,000 back—from the Federal government.

Mrs. Ringrose said dates were "very vague" in her mind but she thought she started her peculations in 1946.

This was not long after she became treasurer and more or less general manager of the Federal Credit Union, made up of employes at the Social Security Administration headquarters here.

The credit union is suing the government for $395,000 on the contention Mrs. Ringrose couldn't have gotten away with the money if Federal examiners hadn't been negligent.

Frederick By-Pass Bids Asked By SRC

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP) — The State Roads Commission today asked for construction bids on some of the road for the expressway by-pass around Frederick on U. S. 40 and 240.

Several bridges for the project already are nearing completion. The letting of contracts for the roadway indicates completion of the project before the end of the 1956 construction season.

The job on which bids were asked today includes the addition of eastbound lanes to make U. S. 40 at dual highway at the east end of the Monocacy River bridge, about a mile of dual highway on the west end between the bridge and Frederick, and a trumpet-type interchange connecting the by-pass with the present U. S. 40 at the east edge of the city.

Bids will be opened on Nov. 22.

The commission also asked bids by Nov. 15 on the resurfacing of a 2-mile stretch of Maryland 333, the Easton-Oxford Road, from Easton to Peach Blossom Creek.

Legislative Subcommittee Says Tax Boost Only Solution To State Financial Troubles

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP) — A Legislative subcommittee suggested today a variety of solutions for Maryland's financial difficulties. Taxpayers could find no encouragement in any of them.

The subcommittee told the Legislative Council the use in recent years of non-recurring tax windfalls "have simply deferred our rendezvous with a permanent and realistic tax increase."

In other words, taxes must go up.

The subcommittee composed of Del. Lee (D-Montgomery), Sen. Flanagan (R-Carroll) and Del. Meyers (D-Balto 6th) said the easiest way to raise the money needed to balance the Maryland budget would be to raise the sales and income tax rates, "but it is not necessarily the best way."

The subcommittee, which worked on the problem of State finances for several months, did not recommend any "best" way to raise the needed money, but it suggested a number of alternatives including:

Replacing the flat rate State income tax with a graduated rate scale which could increase revenues from $5,343,000 to $17,203,000 depending on rates and graduations.

Amending the sales tax law in a number of ways, including a lower minimum taxable sale, a higher rate, and a removal of exemptions. The proposed amendments could produce anywhere from $250,000 to $22,100,000 in additional revenue.

A statewide tax on cigarettes and tobacco, with localities which now levy such taxes sharing in the proceeds.

A "modest" increase in the State racing tax and an extension of racing dates.

An increase in the 4½ per cent corporation net income rate.

Increased taxes on liquor, wines and beer.

The subcommittee commented that Maryland's present tax structure is "generally sound," but it said there are a few "glaring inequities" that suggest "effective work by interested lobbies."

Among its general recommendations, the committee proposed that:

The governor publish his tax proposals by Jan. 1 to give the Legislature time to study them before the forthcoming 30-day session.

The Legislative Council establish a permanent committee on tax and revenue problems.

The budget specify what money is used for State purposes and what goes back to the subdivisions.

Gov. McKeldin's Support Sought For Island Pack

SALISBURY, Md., Nov. 2 (AP) — Gov. McKeldin is to be asked to support a move to set aside part of Assateague Island near Ocean City as a public seaside park.

William E. Green, Snow Hill, governmental affairs committee chairman of the Worcester County Development Assn., said the governor's support would be sought.

The island is 15 miles of virgin Atlantic Coast beach just south of Ocean City. Part of it is already being developed by realtors.

Green said "we're going to invite the governor and other high state officials to tour the island."

Sen. Ralph Mason of Newark said the attorney general's opinion will be sought on whether a proposal can be introduced at the next session of the legislature leading to establishment of the park.

The 1956 session of the legislature is limited to matters of statewide significance.

The so-called Worcester County Authority bill died in the senate this year after getting through the house. It provides for construction of a bridge from the mainland over Sinepuxent Bay to the island and establishment of recreation facilities for use by the public.

The Girl In The Red Velvet Swing

— BY —

ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

PART 4

In 1906, the Harry K. Thaw-Stanford White murder case rocked America. Because it involved a man of great consequence, another of great wealth and a girl—Evelyn Nesbit—of extraordinary beauty it remains unique in the annals of crime.

Because of the ne winterest in this passionate story, what follows has been re-created from the actual reports of the trial and from personal interviews with Miss Nesbit. This is Part 4 of a six-part series.

We know the most beautiful girl of her time, Evelyn Nesbit.

Enter now the third member of this doomed trio, the $40,000,000 Kid from Pittsburgh, Harry Kendall Thaw, in white satin playing a zither with vine leaves in his hair, figuratively speaking of course.

As he knelt at Evelyn's bed when the girl was ill, calling her his Angel, promising to care for her, protect her, nobody would have thought of him as The First Murderer. He was playboy, wastrel, idler, spendthrift, his playful games of chasing companions with whips had cost his rich mama a pretty penny in blackmail from time to time, but on the whole he was known chiefly as a bore and a boor, an easy mark for hangers-on who will flatter and fawn for handouts from such wealthy stumblebums.

I saw Harry Thaw after he had escaped from Matteawan, where the jury sent him. The odd impression he gave of having been put together wrong must have been pronounced when Evelyn first received from him dozens of American beauty roses with $50 bills wrapped round the stems, a nouveau riche gesture for which he apologized to Evelyn in tears, even though Mrs. N. kept the 50s. A big fellow, though not as tall as the 6 foot 3 Stanford White, I would never have conceived him capable of the hate he carried for that suave, witty, born-to-the-purple man about town, who had started their acquaintance by blackballing Thaw from an old and exclusive New York club.

Odds Were Against Her

"When did you first know you had married a man who was really crazy?" I asked Evelyn Nesbit Thaw the other day.

"Not until we were living with his mother in Pittsburgh," she said. "I should have known on our first trip to Europe. But I didn't know anything. I had nothing to compare him with. For all I knew, all men were like that. Stanford White was the first man who'd ever made love to me. A girl of 16 isn't wise in love even with boys. I began to pose when I was 14, I never knew any boys my own age. When a girl in her teens is up against the collective experience of Don Juan and a Borgia, the odds are against her."

The only man who might have saved her, and White's genius, and maybe Thaw's sanity, and the country from a state of shock, was John Barrymore. "I begged her to marry me," Jack told me once. "No other girl I've ever seen could compare to her as she was then. Yes, yes, the old Helen of Troy business, only girl I ever knew who had it, and madness hemmed her around as it always does. Men go mad—and there is the girl, in the middle."

Jack was young then, romantic, of the theater, he might have kept her beauty in the theater and made it bless audiences instead of seeing it torn to pieces in a filthy murder trial. The tragedy of this is that it was Stanford White who hid her away from Jack's courtship. With the help of Mrs. N. who wrung her hands and repeated that Barrymore didn't have a penny, White sent Evelyn away to a finishing school at Pompton Lakes, New Jersey, run by Cecil de Mille's mother.

"Although," Jack told me, "we will have to give my divine sister Ethel an assist in the matter. She didn't like the idea of Evelyn for her baby brother."

Short Stay At School

Of course she didn't stay long at the school, she had never cared anything about Barrymore. "All I wanted," she said the other day, was to get back where Stanford White was. That's all I thought of."

To see how desperate that love was, we have only to look at my favorite highlight during her appearance on the stand in Thaw's defense when it took 60 of New York's finest to see that only the illustrious few who had the coveted passes got into the jammed courtroom.

On direct and cross-examination, Evelyn had told and retold the story of Stanford White's assault after he had drugged her, as Thaw's motive for the murder. This story so astounded and enraged the country and the courtroom that they missed the moment which brings the case into new perspective, which we from that 50-year perspective and Evelyn's secret, can now comprehend and see this piece of Americana Dementia for a tragedy as deranged and terrible as Othello and Desdemona.

Without warning, Evelyn, who had made the name Stanford White infamous before the whole world, could bear it no longer. Throwing Delmas into panic, and Winston Churchill's socially correct cousin, District Attorney William Travers Jerome into shock, Evelyn stated for the first time that her love affair with White had continued after the attack.

"I'm not thinking about that," she said. "I'm thinking about Stanford White's extraordinary personality." Jerome then wished to know whether that extraordinary personality had softened her feelings toward White and Evelyn said, "Yes, in a way," and then while Thaw, whose life was at stake, squirmed and squirmed, the frail camellia, the petite school girl in her little blue suit and white collar, the wounded bluebird, the fragile fainting child, flung her head with its magnificent weight of black hair and the black velvet hat with violets which girls all over the United States were copying, and said clearly, "As a friend, there was nobody nicer than Stanford White, outside that one act of his. He was kind, considerate, did things for my family, outside that one awful thing. I had a hard time making Mr. Thaw understand this, I don't know whether I can make you. I say that outside this one terrible thing, Stanford White was a grand man. He professed his admiration for me in a kindly manner up to that night. Everyone who knew him says the same things about him. He was much more thoughtful than most people. He had a very peculiar, wonderful personality; people liked him very much. He had a great many friends and always kept them."

Both White, Evelyn Jealous

To face facts concerning the "one terrible thing" there have been literary rumors that the Sabine women were content with their lot.

Oh, yes. This teen-ager was in love with White as only the very young can be, with reason of proportion. And White was a busy architect, in demand socially, married, a father. He could spend little time with the child beauty he'd fallen in love with against his will, for though there'd been other girls, they hadn't been Helen of Troy. Both White and Evelyn were jealous. They quarreled. It was a desperate and unhappy situation for a young and beautiful girl constantly pursued by other men.

And there was always Harry Thaw of the rich Thaws saying the one thing Stanford White could never say, Marry me. When she kept refusing Thaw he said finally, "Evelyn is it because of Stanford White?" and she said "Yes" and then he told her he was her friend, that if she didn't marry him he'd never marry, and that made Evelyn cry. Later he again begged her to marry him, he said it hadn't been her fault, she'd been deceived by White, and he, Harry, considered her as pure and good as though she'd never met The Beast.

Miserable, ill, lonely, confused, at a time when she hadn't seen White in a week, when Thaw begged her to go to Europe to rebuild her health, accompanied of course by her mother who thought it was a splendid idea, she went.

"And your feet went down to death right there," I said.

"Yes," Evelyn Nesbit said, "Right there."

The Girl In The Red Velvet Swing

— BY —

ADELA ROGERS ST. JOHNS

PART 4

In 1906, the Harry K. Thaw-Stanford White murder case rocked America. Because it involved a man of great consequence, another of great wealth and a girl—Evelyn Nesbit—of extraordinary beauty it remains unique in the annals of crime.

Because of the ne winterest in this passionate story, what follows has been re-created from the actual reports of the trial and from personal interviews with Miss Nesbit. This is Part 4 of a six-part series.

We know the most beautiful girl of her time, Evelyn Nesbit.

Enter now the third member of this doomed trio, the $40,000,000 Kid from Pittsburgh, Harry Kendall Thaw, in white satin playing a zither with vine leaves in his hair, figuratively speaking of course.

As he knelt at Evelyn's bed when the girl was ill, calling her his Angel, promising to care for her, protect her, nobody would have thought of him as The First Murderer. He was playboy, wastrel, idler, spendthrift, his playful games of chasing companions with whips had cost his rich mama a pretty penny in blackmail from time to time, but on the whole he was known chiefly as a bore and a boor, an easy mark for hangers-on who will flatter and fawn for handouts from such wealthy stumblebums.

I saw Harry Thaw after he had escaped from Matteawan, where the jury sent him. The odd impression he gave of having been put together wrong must have been pronounced when Evelyn first received from him dozens of American beauty roses with $50 bills wrapped round the stems, a nouveau riche gesture for which he apologized to Evelyn in tears, even though Mrs. N. kept the 50s. A big fellow, though not as tall as the 6 foot 3 Stanford White, I would never have conceived him capable of the hate he carried for that suave, witty, born-to-the-purple man about town, who had started their acquaintance by blackballing Thaw from an old and exclusive New York club.

Odds Were Against Her

"When did you first know you had married a man who was really crazy?" I asked Evelyn Nesbit Thaw the other day.

"Not until we were living with his mother in Pittsburgh," she said. "I should have known on our first trip to Europe. But I didn't know anything. I had nothing to compare him with. For all I knew, all men were like that. Stanford White was the first man who'd ever made love to me. A girl of 16 isn't wise in love even with boys. I began to pose when I was 14, I never knew any boys my own age. When a girl in her teens is up against the collective experience of Don Juan and a Borgia, the odds are against her."

The only man who might have saved her, and White's genius, and maybe Thaw's sanity, and the country from a state of shock, was John Barrymore. "I begged her to marry me," Jack told me once. "No other girl I've ever seen could compare to her as she was then. Yes, yes, the old Helen of Troy business, only girl I ever knew who had it, and madness hemmed her around as it always does. Men go mad—and there is the girl, in the middle."

Jack was young then, romantic, of the theater, he might have kept her beauty in the theater and made it bless audiences instead of seeing it torn to pieces in a filthy murder trial. The tragedy of this is that it was Stanford White who hid her away from Jack's courtship. With the help of Mrs. N. who wrung her hands and repeated that Barrymore didn't have a penny, White sent Evelyn away to a finishing school at Pompton Lakes, New Jersey, run by Cecil de Mille's mother.

"Although," Jack told me, "we will have to give my divine sister Ethel an assist in the matter. She didn't like the idea of Evelyn for her baby brother."

Short Stay At School

Of course she didn't stay long at the school, she had never cared anything about Barrymore. "All I wanted," she said the other day, was to get back where Stanford White was. That's all I thought of."

To see how desperate that love was, we have only to look at my favorite highlight during her appearance on the stand in Thaw's defense when it took 60 of New York's finest to see that only the illustrious few who had the coveted passes got into the jammed courtroom.

On direct and cross-examination, Evelyn had told and retold the story of Stanford White's assault after he had drugged her, as Thaw's motive for the murder. This story so astounded and enraged the country and the courtroom that they missed the moment which brings the case into new perspective, which we from that 50-year perspective and Evelyn's secret, can now comprehend and see this piece of Americana Dementia for a tragedy as deranged and terrible as Othello and Desdemona.

Without warning, Evelyn, who had made the name Stanford White infamous before the whole world, could bear it no longer. Throwing Delmas into panic, and Winston Churchill's socially correct cousin, District Attorney William Travers Jerome into shock, Evelyn stated for the first time that her love affair with White had continued after the attack.

"I'm not thinking about that," she said. "I'm thinking about Stanford White's extraordinary personality." Jerome then wished to know whether that extraordinary personality had softened her feelings toward White and Evelyn said, "Yes, in a way," and then while Thaw, whose life was at stake, squirmed and squirmed, the frail camellia, the petite school girl in her little blue suit and white collar, the wounded bluebird, the fragile fainting child, flung her head with its magnificent weight of black hair and the black velvet hat with violets which girls all over the United States were copying, and said clearly, "As a friend, there was nobody nicer than Stanford White, outside that one act of his. He was kind, considerate, did things for my family, outside that one awful thing. I had a hard time making Mr. Thaw understand this, I don't know whether I can make you. I say that outside this one terrible thing, Stanford White was a grand man. He professed his admiration for me in a kindly manner up to that night. Everyone who knew him says the same things about him. He was much more thoughtful than most people. He had a very peculiar, wonderful personality; people liked him very much. He had a great many friends and always kept them."

Both White, Evelyn Jealous

To face facts concerning the "one terrible thing" there have been literary rumors that the Sabine women were content with their lot.

Oh, yes. This teen-ager was in love with White as only the very young can be, with reason of proportion. And White was a busy architect, in demand socially, married, a father. He could spend little time with the child beauty he'd fallen in love with against his will, for though there'd been other girls, they hadn't been Helen of Troy. Both White and Evelyn were jealous. They quarreled. It was a desperate and unhappy situation for a young and beautiful girl constantly pursued by other men.

And there was always Harry Thaw of the rich Thaws saying the one thing Stanford White could never say, Marry me. When she kept refusing Thaw he said finally, "Evelyn is it because of Stanford White?" and she said "Yes" and then he told her he was her friend, that if she didn't marry him he'd never marry, and that made Evelyn cry. Later he again begged her to marry him, he said it hadn't been her fault, she'd been deceived by White, and he, Harry, considered her as pure and good as though she'd never met The Beast.

Miserable, ill, lonely, confused, at a time when she hadn't seen White in a week, when Thaw begged her to go to Europe to rebuild her health, accompanied of course by her mother who thought it was a splendid idea, she went.

"And your feet went down to death right there," I said.

"Yes," Evelyn Nesbit said, "Right there."

Caution Signs On Big Savage Mountain Being Urged By Frostburg Committee

Specific suggestions for erection of safety signs on Big Savage Mountain have been formulated by a Frostburg committee investigating ways and means of preventing another runaway truck tragedy such as occurred here two weeks ago.

The group inspected Big Savage Tuesday to plan erection of the signs and for introducing safety measures recommended by the Frostburg Safety Committee Monday night.

Included in the group were Paul E. Burke, chairman of the Maryland Traffic Safety Committee; Ralph M. Race, chairman of the newly-formed Mountain Traffic Safety Committee and George Hale, representing G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission. Also with the group were Porter C. Trice, member of the state Traffic Safety Commission, State Troopers Donald Wade and Joseph Stakem.

Specific suggestions include:

Beginning on the west slope there would be two signs warning all heavy vehicles to pull to the right and stop at the top of the hill. Here a sign would acquaint drivers with and warn them of the downgrade, hazards and caution them to descend in a safe gear.

The suggested working sign is as follows: "You are approaching 11 miles of continuous downgrade, much of it steep and through heavily populated areas. Test your brakes, put your vehicle in a holding gear and do not exceed —— miles per hour. There is no turn-off, no upgrade ahead; if you lose control ditch your vehicle at once."

Signs on the downgrade would read: "Trucks remain in low gear."

It has been recommended that these signs be lettered with reflective paint and a blinker be placed atop the principal sign.

Copies of the suggestions were mailed to Russell H. McCain, chairman of the Maryland SRC; Col. Elmer C. Munshower, superintendent of Maryland State Police; and Governor McKeldin.

The safety committee will meet with Burke Monday at 7 p. m. at Frostburg City Hall and hear a report of progress.

Meeting Tuesday evening will be a group to discuss traffic problems in the city of Frostburg and what can be done to keep Main Street open in event of other runaways.

Reskless Driver Is Fined $50

The driver whose car slammed into the rear of an auto stopped on Greene Street for a traffic signal was fined $50, when he was found guilty of reckless driving when tried in Trial Magistrates Court yesterday.

Carl Eugene Walbright, 29, of 1719 Ford Avenue, was arrested at 7:50 p. m. Tuesday by Officer Kenneth Morrissey at the scene of the wreck at Greene and Lee streets.

Caution Signs On Big Savage Mountain Being Urged By Frostburg Committee

Specific suggestions for erection of safety signs on Big Savage Mountain have been formulated by a Frostburg committee investigating ways and means of preventing another runaway truck tragedy such as occurred here two weeks ago.

The group inspected Big Savage Tuesday to plan erection of the signs and for introducing safety measures recommended by the Frostburg Safety Committee Monday night.

Included in the group were Paul E. Burke, chairman of the Maryland Traffic Safety Committee; Ralph M. Race, chairman of the newly-formed Mountain Traffic Safety Committee and George Hale, representing G. Bates Chaires, district engineer of the State Roads Commission. Also with the group were Porter C. Trice, member of the state Traffic Safety Commission, State Troopers Donald Wade and Joseph Stakem.

Specific suggestions include:

Beginning on the west slope there would be two signs warning all heavy vehicles to pull to the right and stop at the top of the hill. Here a sign would acquaint drivers with and warn them of the downgrade, hazards and caution them to descend in a safe gear.

The suggested working sign is as follows: "You are approaching 11 miles of continuous downgrade, much of it steep and through heavily populated areas. Test your brakes, put your vehicle in a holding gear and do not exceed —— miles per hour. There is no turnoff, no upgrade ahead; if you lose control ditch your vehicle at once."

Signs on the downgrade would read: "Trucks remain in low gear."

It has been recommended that these signs be lettered with reflective paint and a blinker be placed atop the principal sign.

Copies of the suggestions were mailed to Russell H. McCain, chairman of the Maryland SRC; Col. Elmer C. Munshower, superintendent of Maryland State Police; and Governor McKeldin.

The safety committee will meet with Burke Monday at 7 p. m. at Frostburg City Hall and hear a report of progress.

Meeting Tuesday evening will be a group to discuss traffic problems in the city of Frostburg and what can be done to keep Main Street open in event of other runaways.

West Virginia Methodists Get Hospital

Acquire Property At Clarksburg

KEYSER—The Methodist Church in West Virginia now owns its first hospital. At a reorganization meeting held a few days ago at the hospital, the control of the Union Protestant Hospital in Clarksburg and all of its properties, was officially taken over by the West Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church.

This was the culmination of negotiations begun in June, 1955, by the Union Protestant Hospital Corporation of Clarksburg, to transfer the control and ownership of the hospital and all its properties and assets to the West Virginia Conference provided the conference would agree to operate and further develop the hospital.

November 1, was the day agreed upon for the signing of the documents, making the duly elected representatives of the church conference a controlling majority of the hospital corporation. All necessary papers were formally signed and new officers were elected.

Under this transaction the Methodist Church acquired cash and securities, all free from indebtedness.

The new members of the hospital corporation formally installed, are: Carl R. Heatwole, Parkersburg; Mrs. Myron Collins, New Martinsville; W. C. Givens, Huntington; Truman Wright, White Sulphur Springs; R. J. Bean, Moorefield; Dr. Sobisca Hall, Clarksburg; Herbert M. Blair, Weston; Leslie D. Price, Charleston; C. G. Peregory, Beckley; J. C. Harvey, Bluefield; Mrs. Margaret Criswell, Clarksburg, all laymen of the West Virginia Conference.

The clerical members are: Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, T. M. Zumbrumnen, Buckhannon, John E. Hanifan, Clarksburg; J. B. F. Yoak, Jr., Beckley; Truman W. Potter, Charleston; J. W. Hollister, Huntington; T. Leroy Hooper, Morgantown; J. M. Helm, Wheeling, and S. A. F. Wagner, Keyser.

Members carried over from the old company, are: Paul S. Horner, Douglas M. Bailey, Dr. Frank Langfitt, Dr. Joseph E. Page and James M. Guiher.

Tentative plans discussed by the new owners include increasing the number of beds, now 60 to 110 within five years.

The present property includes the large tract of land on which the John W. Davis Mansion stands. Tentative plans include work to be started on the outlying lands, within the next five years.

Keep In Line

Be meticulous in all your grooming habits and check before you step out of the house.

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Before leaving the house, always check to see that your stocking seams are absolutely straight. A slim, well-turned ankle is still one of the greatest guarantees of male admiration, but only if it is part of a well-groomed leg. To minimize the chances of seams going crooked, fasten the back garter first.

As every woman knows, stockings do thrive on good care. Always remember to wash them immediately after each wearing because soil attacks the fibers. Rinse hosiery until the water runs clear. Roll stockings in a towel (turkish) to remove moisture . . . they will dry very fast this way. Hang on snagless clips or rods away from heat of any kind. Never wring them. This causes breaks in fibers already in a weakened condition from moisture.

New stockings should be rinsed in lukewarm water and allowed to dry thoroughly before being worn even once. Store clean stockings in lined cases or partitioned boxes so there will be no chance of snagging. Rotate the order in which you wear them . . . rest does wonders to insure the life of a stocking.

Donning hosiery correctly is most important as every tug on a seam is a coffin nail in a stocking. Rolling them down smoothly to the foot so that you can slip your toes in without catching the mesh is the first step. Then roll instead of pulling them upward . . . keeping each seam even.

Tomorrow — The toothbrush habit.

HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU WEIGH?

A new, lightning calculator that tells you how to compute your own individual ideal weight. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for "How Much Should You Weigh?"

Garrett Co. To Readvertise For Vote Machine Prices

Original Bids Are Rejected

OAKLAND—At a joint meeting of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners and Board of Election Supervisors Tuesday it was unanimously decided to reject the bids of both companies which made offers to furnish 36 voting machines.

The Automatic Voting Machine Company had offered to supply the 36 machines for $52,002.72 while the Shoup Voting Machine Company submitted a bid of $50,801.12 on the devices.

R. T. Browhawn, clerk to the county commissioners, said the commissioners and election supervisors decided to readvertise for bids on the 36 machines. The bids will be opened at 9 a. m. on Monday, November 21 at the Court House.

Browhawn said there was some confusion regarding the original bidding and the officials of both boards feel that readvertising again will clear up any misconceptions. There are only two firms which manufacture the voting machines, the Automatic and Shoup companies.

At an earlier meeting the county commissioners refused to accept the recommendation of the Board of Election Supervisors that 36 voting machines be purchased from the Automatic Voting Machine Company. This resulted in yesterday's joint session.

West Virginia Methodists Get Hospital

Acquire Property At Clarksburg

KEYSER—The Methodist Church in West Virginia now owns its first hospital. At a reorganization meeting held a few days ago at the hospital, the control of the Union Protestant Hospital in Clarksburg and all of its properties, was officially taken over by the West Virginia Conference of the Methodist Church.

This was the culmination of negotiations begun in June, 1955, by the Union Protestant Hospital Corporation of Clarksburg, to transfer the control and ownership of the hospital and all its properties and assets to the West Virginia Conference provided the conference would agree to operate and further develop the hospital.

November 1, was the day agreed upon for the signing of the documents, making the duly elected representatives of the church conference a controlling majority of the hospital corporation. All necessary papers were formally signed and new officers were elected.

Under this transaction the Methodist Church acquired cash and securities, all free from indebtedness.

Givens, Huntington; Truman Wright, White Sulphur Springs; R. J. Bean, Moorefield; Dr. Sobisca Hall, Clarksburg; Herbert M. Blair, Weston; Leslie D. Price, Charleston; C. G. Peregory, Beckley; J. C. Harvey, Bluefield; Mrs. Margaret Criswell, Clarksburg, all laymen of the West Virginia Conference.

The clerical members are: Bishop Lloyd C. Wicke, T. M. Zumbrumnen, Buckhannon, John E. Hanifan, Clarksburg; J. B. F. Yoak, Jr., Beckley; Truman W. Potter, Charleston; J. W. Hollister, Huntington; T. Leroy Hooper, Morgantown; J. M. Helm, Wheeling, and S. A. F. Wagner, Keyser.

Members carried over from the old company, are: Paul S. Horner, Douglas M. Bailey, Dr. Frank Langfitt, Dr. Joseph E. Page and James M. Guiher.

Tentative plans discussed by the new owners include increasing the number of beds, now 60 to 110 within five years.

Keep In Line

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

Before leaving the house, always check to see that your stocking seams are absolutely straight. A slim, well-turned ankle is still one of the greatest guarantees of male admiration, but only if it is part of a well-groomed leg. To minimize the chances of seams going crooked, fasten the back garter first.

As every woman knows, stockings do thrive on good care. Always remember to wash them immediately after each wearing because soil attacks the fibers. Rinse hosiery until the water runs clear. Roll stockings in a towel (turkish) to remove moisture . . . they will dry very fast this way. Hang on snagless clips or rods away from heat of any kind. Never wring them. This causes breaks in fibers already in a weakened condition from moisture.

New stockings should be rinsed in lukewarm water and allowed to dry thoroughly before being worn even once. Store clean stockings in lined cases or partitioned boxes so there will be no chance of snagging. Rotate the order in which you wear them . . . rest does wonders to insure the life of a stocking.

Donning hosiery correctly is most important as every tug on a seam is a coffin nail in a stocking. Rolling them down smoothly to the foot so that you can slip your toes in without catching the mesh is the first step. Then roll instead of pulling them upward...keeping each seam even.

Tomorrow — The toothbrush habit.

HOW MUCH SHOULD YOU WEIGH? A new, lightning calculator that tells you how to compute your own individual ideal weight. Write to Secrets of Charm in care of this newspaper, enclosing 10c (in coin) and a self-addressed, stamped envelope. Ask for "How Much Should You Weigh?"

Garrett Co. To Readvertise For Vote Machine Prices

Original Bids Are Rejected

OAKLAND—At a joint meeting of the Garrett County Board of Commissioners and Board of Election Supervisors Tuesday it was unanimously decided to reject the bids of both companies which made offers to furnish 36 voting machines.

The Automatic Voting Machine Company had offered to supply the 36 machines for $52,002.72 while the Shoup Voting Machine Company submitted a bid of $50,801.12 on the devices.

R. T. Browhawn, clerk to the county commissioners, said the commissioners and election supervisors decided to readvertise for bids on the 36 machines. The bids will be opened at 9 a. m. on Monday, November 21 at the Court House.

Browhawn said there was some confusion regarding the original bidding and the officials of both boards feel that readvertising again will clear up any misconceptions. There are only two firms which manufacture the voting machines, the Automatic and Shoup companies.

At an earlier meeting the county commissioners refused to accept the recommendation of the Board of Election Supervisors that 36 voting machines be purchased from the Automatic Voting Machine Company. This resulted in yesterday's joint session.

Martin-McMahon Wedding Solemnized In Midland

MIDLAND — Miss Teresa Ann McMahon, daughter of Mrs. Helen HcMahon and the late John McMahon, Midland, became the bride of James Edward Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Martin, RD 1, Cumberland, October 17 in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Midland. Rev. John J. Buckley performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with assorted fall flowers.

Sister Antionette, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the church choir who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," and for the dedication "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling."

The bride given in marriage by her brother, John McMahon, was attired in a silver and ivory brocade street length dress and blue hat with irridescent sequins. She wore blue satin matching shoes. She carried a bouquet of white mums with white satin streamers which she dedicated to the Blessed Mother. Leaving the church she carried a white satin prayer book adorned with a white orchid and white lace streamers.

Mrs. Harry Walker, sister of the bride, served as her matron of honor. She wore a wine velvet street length dress and dusty pink hat and gloves. She carried a crescent bouquet of mums and asters.

Leo Martin, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. McMahon, mother of the bride, was attired in navy blue and wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Martin, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a purple dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

For traveling the bride chose a black suit with gold and black accessories and her white orchid corsage.

Martin-McMahon Wedding Solemnized In Midland

MIDLAND — Miss Teresa Ann McMahon, daughter of Mrs. Helen McMahon and the late John McMahon, Midland, became the bride of James Edward Martin, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Martin, RD 1, Cumberland, October 17 in St. Joseph's Catholic Church, Midland. Rev. John J. Buckley performed the double ring ceremony before an altar banked with assorted fall flowers.

Sister Antionette, organist, played the traditional wedding marches and accompanied the church choir who sang "On This Day O Beautiful Mother," "O Lord I Am Not Worthy," and for the dedication "Mother At Your Feet Is Kneeling."

The bride given in marriage by her brother, John McMahon, was attired in a silver and ivory brocade street length dress and blue hat with irridescent sequins. She wore blue satin matching shoes. She carried a bouquet of white mums with white satin streamers which she dedicated to the Blessed Mother. Leaving the church she carried a white satin prayer book adorned with a white orchid and white lace streamers.

Mrs. Harry Walker, sister of the bride, served as her matron of honor. She wore a wine velvet street length dress and dusty pink hat and gloves. She carried a crescent bouquet of mums and asters.

Leo Martin, brother of the bridegroom, served as best man.

Mrs. McMahon, mother of the bride, was attired in navy blue and wore a corsage of yellow rosebuds.

Mrs. Martin, mother of the bridegroom, was attired in a purple dress with black accessories and a corsage of pink rosebuds.

For traveling the bride chose a black suit with gold and black accessories and her white orchid corsage.

Upon their return, the couple will reside in LaVale.

Jaycees Hear Mullaney

Matthew J. Mullaney, Democrat member of the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors, demonstrated the use of automatic voting machines last night at the meeting of the Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

Mullaney reminded the Jaycees that although the machines will be used for the first time on a county-wide basis at next May's primary election they are not new. The first voting machine election was conducted in New York State in 1892 and last year 25,000,000 voters cast their ballots by foolproof machines.

The Jaycees also heard from Lloyd Hoover of Frederick, national Jaycee director for Maryland, who was accompanied to the meeting by three other Frederick Jaycees.

Brook Fradiska, social chairman, reported that the annual Winter Frolics dance will be held December 2 at the Clary Club with proceeds going to the needy children's Christmas fund.

James Scott, chairman of the Olympic Fund drive, reported that more than $212 was collected at two recent high school football games to send United States athletes to the 1956 Olympics.

A sustaining YMCA membership for a needy boy also was renewed by the Jaycees.

Navy Program Applications Being Taken

Applications are now being accepted from qualified candidates for appointment in the aviation branch of the U. S. Naval Reserve under the Aviation Officer Program.

Chief Eugene Morgan, who is in charge of the local recruiting office in the Post Office building, pointed out yesterday that this is distinct from and in addition to the Naval Cadet Program.

Acceptable applicants will be appointed ensigns in the Naval Reserve upon completion of the four-month Pre-Flight School at Pensacola, Fla. Pre-flight is followed by eight months basic flight training and six months advanced training as officer with flight pay plus full allowances.

Candidates who successfully complete Pre-Flight School but who subsequently fail in flight training will be required to serve a period of three years as aviation ground officers, this period to be computed from the original date of commissioning.

Those who are disenrolled from the program prior to commissioning will be required to remain on active duty for a period of two years as enlisted men, this period to be computed from the enlistment date.

Chief Morgan added that those candidates who successfully complete the entire course of training will be required to remain on active duty for a period of two years as naval aviators, this period to be computed from the date of completion of training.

Woman Slays Mother, Self

GREENSBURG, Pa., Nov. 2 (AP)—A 48-year-old woman who had been under medical treatment for depression killed her 77-year-old mother, then took her own life today at the family home south of nearby Youngwood.

Sheriff Howard Thomas, acting Westmoreland County coroner, issued a verdict of murder and suicide in the deaths of Mrs. Maude Fox, 77, and Mrs. Isabell Williams.

Sheriff Thomas and State Police Cpl. William J. Smith said Mrs. Fox had been living with her daughter. They gave this version:

Mrs. Williams attacked her mother with a nine-inch butcher knife, blackjack, paring knife and a large meat fork. She then killed herself by slashing her throat with with a razor blade.

Mrs. Williams' husband, Earl, arrived home about two hours after the tragedy. A salesman for a Greensburg printing firm, he had been in Cumberland, Md., on a business trip.

Geneva Backdrop Different Now

There has, unfortunately, been a hollow sound to all the hopeful and conciliatory words that have been spoken since the Big Four foreign ministers arrived at Geneva to discuss German unity and European security, disarmament and better contacts between East and West.

Secretary of State Dulles is faithfully following the course set by his chief when he pledges the United States to a course of conciliation. The "spirit of Geneva," as Mr. Dulles pointed out, had been identified with "the hopes of the world," and both he and the President have leaned over backward to keep that spirit alive.

The trouble with this second meeting at Geneva is that the backdrop of the stage on which the foreign ministers will conduct their negotiations is strikingly different from that of a few months ago. At that first meeting of the heads of state, the background was bright not only because the Russians were all cordiality and smiles, but because they had just agreed to a peace treaty for Austria.

This time what they are saying at Geneva must be weighed against the fact that the Communists seem to be doing their best to foment a new war in the explosive Middle East.

American representatives will keep on trying to accomplish what they can by negotiation, even though hope is small, because there is no alternative that is not too frightful to contemplate.

But there is little likelihood of agreement or improvement in international relations until Russia abandons the course of promoting conflict between nations to which it has long adhered in favor of trying honestly to build a peaceful world.

"I Don't Think He Wants To Buy A Hat"

Stevenson Candidacy Not Developing According To Plan In Crucial Period

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

In this crucial formative period, the presidential candidacy of Adlai E. Stevenson is not quite developing according to plan.

Some of the disappointments have been obvious enough, as in the South. Stevenson gave a remarkably large share of the last three years to making southern friends. The southerners were also elaborately wooed on Stevenson's behalf by the able former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Stephen Mitchell.

As recently as a fortnight ago, there was no doubt in the Stevenson camp that these efforts had met with solid success. On the basis of a talk with Senator Richard Russell, of Georgia, last summer, Stevenson himself believed that the immensely powerful Russell would publicly endorse the Stevenson candidacy at an appropriate moment. The support of other southern leaders was also confidently counted on. A massive bloc of 250 southern and border state delegates was the planned key to the Stevenson convention strategy.

Several Heavy Blows

It was a heavy blow, therefore, when Senator Russell announced that Stevenson was a bit "too far to the left" for Georgia. It was a blow, too, when Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas issued a rallying call for a southern effort to impose a "centrist" candidate on the Democratic party, with the obvious implication that Adlai Stevenson was not a centrist. Over-all, the Stevenson strategy has plainly run into trouble on its crucial southern flank.

Then again, it is pretty plain that the recent attitude of former President Harry S. Truman has been another severe disappointment to the Stevenson camp. Stevenson made no secret of the wound he felt when Truman went to Albany, and there announced that he would be for Averell Harriman for President if he came from New York. Stevenson had counted on Truman's positive support, and this did not look like positive support to him.

The relationship between Truman and Stevenson has not been much improved, either, by their meeting in Chicago a few days ago. Both have been close-mouthed about what passed between them.

But those who know the two men best are pretty sure that Truman urged Stevenson to "get in there and fight" for the nomination; that Stevenson made his stock lament about fighting fellow Democrats; and that Truman, always impatient of anything savoring of political nice-nelly-ism, got a bit peppery about Stevenson's lack of gusto. And so Truman, who actually wanted Stevenson to announce his candidacy last summer, came out of the recent meeting with no warm praise for Stevenson to balance what he had said on Harriman's behalf.

Confirmed As Front-Runner

Doubt about Truman and doubt about the South are very serious and unpleasant new elements in the calculations of the Stevenson strategists. On the other hand, the last few days have also brought clear confirmation of Adlai Stevenson's status as the Democratic front-runner.

One sign was the invitation of the Minnesota delegates to enter their primary, which virtually read, "come on in and win." Another is the now-solid commitment of Pennsylvania to Stevenson. This came over the weekend, when Pennsylvania's Governor George M. Leader finally endorsed the Stevenson candidacy without qualification.

Mayor Joseph Clark, of Philadelphia, Leader's chief political adviser, James Finnegan, and the Pittsburgh boss, David Lawrence, all had to work pretty hard to get Leader to go the whole hog for Stevenson. Leader had been listening to the siren songs of Mayor Clark's opponents in the Philadelphia organization, who are supporters of Senator Estes Kefauver. But in the end, Leader was persuaded, and Pennsylvania can now be regarded as being solid for Stevenson in the manner of Illinois.

The question for Stevenson, then, is whether he can exploit the great advantage he now possesses in order to get a real bandwagon going. The possible answers to the question are suggested, moreover, by the little episode of Stevenson's not too happy meeting with Truman.

Must Show Appetite

As of today, there is very little doubt that the former President expects to end by casting his convention ballot for Stevenson, despite his greater personal sympathy for Averell Harriman. He has said as much, in fact, to those closest to him.

Again, the southerners may growl and grumble and maneuver for advantage. Commitments to them may have to be made, to soothe their discontent. But they would still rather have Stevenson as the party candidate than either Harriman or Kefauver; and they have no real candidate of their own.

But Truman will not end by casting his convention ballot for Stevenson, and the South will not swing back into line either, if Stevenson does not begin to show a real appetite for the battle ahead. Being a practical professional politician, Truman knows that the Democrats have a hard fight on their hands this year. Stevenson has got to prove he is ready and eager for that fight. That is why the problem of the Democratic primaries is the key problem of the Stevenson candidacy — and a problem that cannot be solved by just going into those primaries, like Minnesota, where no hard fight is expected.

Mystery Of Flying Saucers Now Officially Solved

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The mystery of the flying saucers — it really never was a mystery except in an official sense — has been solved officially at last.

It turns out that the American people had the truth all the time —they did see flying objects in the air shaped like saucers. But for official reasons, mostly related to security, it was apparently decided never to admit that there were objects of such shape—planes or missiles — which could rise vertically.

The key to the misunderstanding is in one word, "conventional." From the start of the stories, the Air Force insisted that observers were engaged in a "misinterpretation of various conventional objects."

Original Thesis Maintained

Everything that is on the drawing boards or in the test period could be called "conventional." Certainly when jet planes first whizzed across the skies they were unusual to the public but in the technical language used in official statements they could be termed just "conventional" airplanes, if for security reasons it was desired to regard them as such.

It is interesting to go back five years and compare what the Air Force and Defense Department said then, with what is being said officially now. There is indeed a significant similarity and the original thesis is maintained. Here is what the Air Force said a few days ago in an official statement:

"We are now entering a period of aviation technology in which aircraft of unusual configuration and flight characteristics will begin to appear.

"The Air Force and the other armed services have under development several vertical-rising, high-performance aircraft, and as early as last year, a propeller-driven vertical-rising aircraft was flown. The Air Force will fly the first jet-powered vertical-rising airplane in a matter of days. We have another project under contract with Avro Ltd. of Canada, which could result in disc-shaped aircraft . . ."

Everybody familiar with aviation knows that it takes years of testing of new models before a contract is let or an announcement is made that a plane will be formally exhibited to the public.

Close Similarity Shown

The Air Force now says that its own study of the reports about "flying saucers" shows that "all the unidentified aerial objects could have been explained if more complete observational data had been available' 'and that aircraft, balloons and shooting stars and missiles of various kinds undoubtedly accounted for the strange things people saw or thought they saw. It is officially admitted that a fifth of the reports involved aircraft of some kind.

But it is interesting to go back to an article in U. S. News & World Report for April 7, 1950, which gave the first comprehensive explanation of the "flying saucers." In that issue models of "convertiplanes" and combinations of helicopters and conventional aircraft were described and pictures printed of those models which show a close similarity to the planned Air Force "convertiplanes" of 1955. The 1950 magazine article said.

"The first U. S. model designed by Charles H. Zimmerman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was elliptical in shape, powered by two piston engines and driven by twin propellers. It had a maximum speed between 400 and 500 miles an hour.

"More important, it could rise almost vertically and its minimum speed for landing was only about 35 miles an hour, a great advantage in military and naval aircraft. And it was far more maneuverable than conventional military planes."

What happened to this early model? The same magazine report in 1950 says:

"It was purchased by the Navy after the original model was tested in 1942. The first full-sized aircraft, built by Chance-Vought, was thoroughly tested by Navy engineers. Then a statement was released that this project had been dropped. Early experimenting with 'saucers' centered in the Navy."

This correspondent on April 6, 1950, published extracts from a memorandum furnished him by members of the staff of U. S. News & World Report who investigated the stories of "flying saucers." It read in part as follows:

Competent Witnesses

"The Air Force has received statements from hundreds of people in more than 300 cases in which flying saucers were believed to have been seen. At least a dozen of these cases involved thoroughly competent witnesses who had a clear view of the saucer aircraft. They are Air Force flyers who chased saucers, commercial pilots who had a good look at the circular aircraft, high ranking Army officers who saw one over Fort Knox, air technicians at Wright Field, balloon experts who tracked one near White Sands, New Mexico . . .

"The saucers observed traveled several hundred miles an hour and often against the wind, eliminating the possibility of weather balloons. They maneuvered and even rose vertically, eliminating meteors. They were often seen by dozens or even hundreds of people at once so that hysteria is not a likely answer . . .

"Evidence clearly points to a project within the United States. It is also obviously an expensive one on which millions probably have been sunk in research. That indicates a government project, one done with great secrecy."

Experimentation in new types of aircraft has been going on since 1945. Some are convertiplanes, some circular, some resembling helicopters, and some still on the "secret" list. Among those revealed publicly, the McDonnell Aircraft Company of St. Louis, the Bell Aviation Company at Fort Worth, Texas, and the Convair Company on the West Coast, all have characteristics that were reported originally in the "flying saucer" stories. More than a dozen other aircraft companies are developing some new types of planes and the testing areas coincide with the places where early reports came on flying saucers.

Now the "secret" is out. At least it is officially admitted that "jet-powered vertical-rising, high-performance" aircraft are here and will be seen in great numbers from now on. Nobody officially is saying how and where they were developed and tested and during what period of time.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Faust, 1955

We were sitting about in the club waiting for our lunch and talking about this and that when one of my companions without much ado said:

"And now I'll tell you a true one."

And having heard many true ones which turned out to be good ones, I listened to this tale:

It seems as how diamond merchants in Europe do most of their exciting business during the mornings, when the sun is clear and the gems glisten. In the afternoons, they take a long lunch or sit over coffee in the cafes or play pinochle, which is still a game for those who like the same companions day after day.

Such a group included Mr. Kessler, a diamond merchant who had grown to be a cynic and an atheist and who laughed at good luck and other superstitions. And often he annoyed his colleagues by interrupting their play and their thoughts by insisting upon touting his cynicisms and his materialism which the other diamond merchants disliked because, who can tell, one might get fooled in these modern times when tricky chemicals can make everything false.

And so Mr. Steinberg one day challenged his friend, Kessler:

"You say you have no soul. You say you are just flesh and blood like a cow, which also gives milk. You say that there is nothing supernatural and that you fear nothing in Heaven or on Earth.

"All right, I'll buy your soul. I'll pay you cash for it."

"Don't be a pudding head," said Kessler. "How can you buy what doesn't exist?"

"That's my business. You write me a paper, selling your soul to me and, right now, I will give you a check for 10,000 francs."

"That's silly," Kessler replied. "What good is such a paper?"

Steinberg answered, "To me the paper is good. You write and sign and I'll give you the check. Right here and now. You talk so much. Now, I call you."

So Kessler wrote a paper:

"For the sum of 10,000 francs, I this day sell my soul to Jakob Steinberg."

Steinberg handed him a check. They drank coffee and cognac and called it a day.

A few days later, Kessler came to Steinberg and said:

"Look! I'm in trouble. My wife objects to our transaction. She said that she will not live with a man who sold his soul for money. I love my wife more than 10,000 francs. Give me back the paper and I'll give you back the check."

Steinberg answered: "For years, you have boasted you have no soul. I paid you 10,000 francs for what you said you didn't have. I did not ask you to do anything for the money. I only asked you to make out a bill of sale and live as before without further obligation to me. A sale is a sale. So far as I'm concerned, I'll keep the paper and you keep the check."

Kessler left, a shaken man. His wife surely would leave him. He could not attend to the diamond business. He could not concentrate. He could not tell good from bad diamonds. He could not sleep, worrying about what would happen to his business.

Then one day he met Steinberg on the street. Kessler was unshaved. There was not a flower in his buttonhole. There was no light in his eye. There was no argument on his lips.

"My friend," he said, "this piece of paper I gave you has taken away my luck. It may take my life. Please, you give me the paper back and I'll give you your check back."

"Nothing doing," said Steinberg. "When I make a deal, it's a deal. Why should I give you back the paper without a profit? I don't do business without a profit. How much will you pay to get your soul back?"

So Kessler paid a huge profit and now he knows that there is a soul and he has one because he tested his strength without one and could not stand up. Besides, it cost so much.

We looked at each other—we at the luncheon table—and wondered which of us was Kessler.

A Wonderful Character

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 — (INS) — Probably more than any other individual Clark Griffith made baseball the "national pastime." Presidents of the United States had attended ballgames in Washington long before that day in 1912 when Griff audaciously stuck a ball in William Howard Taft's chubby paw and ordered him to throw it out on the field. McKinley liked baseball and so did Teddy Roosevelt.

But Griff had the rudimentary salesmanship that made a foil out of the men in the White House. He kept after it doggedly with annual trips to the executive offices to present a gold season's pass to the President and a pass and alligator bag to the First Lady. It became a part of our culture. So much so that something approximating a political and social crisis was caused in April of 1953 when President Eisenhower dodged the ritual in order to play golf.

MacArthur Watched Ruth

Griff window-dressed his gentle old ballyard with cabinet officers, senators in season, congressmen in and out of season, and year-round brass. Maj. Douglas MacArthur was among those in the stands when a pitcher named Babe Ruth made his Washington debut in 1914—just as MacArthur, as a lieutenant, had seen Walter Johnson's first start there in 1907.

He was a wonderful character, this Griff. Right to the ninth inning of his life of three quarters of a century in baseball, he'd still size up a new acquaintance with the clear-eyed scrutiny which he had clamped on "enemy" hitters while winning well over 200 games as a pitcher. No person, no crisis, no deplorable Washington team ever really vanquished this fearless man. He must have given Death a battle it will never forget.

Griff fought chance as if it were a plague. Most of the things big league baseball fans today take for granted Griff battled against on the ground that they were the work of "bushwhackers." He could make "bushwhacker" sound like a curse word when he wanted to, the fire blazing in eyes that rested beneath the gray thatches of his brows. He opposed night baseball as if it were dishonest, then became just about its widest user. The liberalization of owner-player relations found him a staunch reactionary but he was doting and generous with men who delivered for him. He barred George Marshall's Redskins as unkempt gypsies, then relented and embraced them.

Through the years Griff won a reputation for niggardliness while bringing up a big family of adopted children and taking care of a small army of non-working relatives and old cronies to the n'th degree.

Capital Not Unlimited

He never had the limitless capital of baseball's rich men and he ran his operation accordingly. If he could show a profit finishing seventh or eighth with Cubans and Puerto Ricans but lose money finishing that low with second rate American ballplayers he'd take the imported brand and stay alive to fight another battle of wits with richer men in the game.

He won such a battle in 1933—Washington's last pennant year—by trading astutely for Earl Whitehill, Goose Goslin, Luke Sewell, Walter Stewart, Heinie Manush, Al Crowder and a few others. In 1945 he came within a dropped fly ball of doing it again with a collection of walking wounded named Joe and Jose.

Griff was one of the founders of the American League. He was its talent scout. His raids on the rosters of the National League were the sensation of the turn of the century. He got the great Nap Lajoie to jump from the Phils with money Griff had borrowed from one of the owners of the same team. Honus Wagner locked himself in a pool hall to resist the temptation of jumping the Pirates. Griff's raids made the game a profession with honored contracts instead of piece work.

As a punk baseball writer traveling with Griff's team of 20 and more years ago I used to wound the old gentleman with an occasional story about his pantalooned incompetents, and would wince as an independent newspaperman when he'd introduce us to strangers as "my newspaper boys." Now, God bless him, I'm sorry for what little unhappiness I caused him in those dusty days and I'm proud to be included in his possessive pronoun.

Helpful Advice On What To Do After Auto Crash

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Highway accidents usually represent catastrophes and those who are first upon the scene never forget the experience. What is done during the first few minutes may save the life of a driver with a broken neck or the unconscious child bleeding to death.

Chance plays a role because the average person cannot be expected to know all the answers to first aid. There are no hard and fast rules. After a highway crash, the driver usually gets out of the car quickly; if he doesn't he is either dead or seriously injured.

When the victim is found lying on the ground, he should be left alone unless hemorrhage needs immediate attention. The next step is to warn oncoming traffic by placing flares or directing cars to detour around the accident scene.

Many minor collisions have become major accidents because such precautions were not taken.

The next person who appears should be asked to telephone the authorities and give the location of the crash and the extent of damages. A life might be saved if the ambulance arrives with the police car instead of waiting for the police before calling the ambulance.

As the number of bystanders increases a few will get excited and insist that something be done. Many well meaning persons behave in this way under stress and it takes a calm person to control the situation.

The importance of good transportation to the hospital cannot be overstated. Since the police and ambulance usually arrive before a physician, the responsibility for emergency care falls on them. For this reason, the ambulance attendants should be well trained rather than youngsters who like to drive fast and blow the siren.

The city fathers of Flint, Mich., deserve credit for passing an ordinance for ambulance attendants to have certificates of proficiency. These men are beyond the first aid stage; they are experienced and trustworthy in this field. One Flint hospital keeps a record of how the attendants handle the injured; three mistakes and they are out of a job.

Other cities have followed this example. Accident prevention is the ideal solution to the traffic casualty problem but until it becomes a reality, the bystander must know how to cooperate. The medical profession will continue to employ its facilities and skill to minimize the victim's suffering and prevent death.

TENSE MUSCLES

D. O. T. writes: You say that psychogenic rheumatism is pain in and about the joints, muscles, and tendons without evidence of arthritis. Does our emotional make-up have any thing to do with it?

REPLY

Yes, the word psychogenic means of emotional origin. Most victims of this condition develop pain during periods of stress and strain. Symptoms are less noticeable when conditions settle down.

FOOD PHASES

Mrs. H. P. writes: My 7-year-old son insists upon catsup at every meal, on everything including toast. Is this harmful?

REPLY

No. Next year he may switch to peanut butter or raspberry jam. Many children go through these phases and, to my knowledge, there is no adequate explanation.

Geneva Backdrop Different Now

There has, unfortunately, been a hollow sound to all the hopeful and conciliatory words that have been spoken since the Big Four foreign ministers arrived at Geneva to discuss German unity and European security, disarmament and better contacts between East and West.

Secretary of State Dulles is faithfully following the course set by his chief when he pledges the United States to a course of conciliation. The "spirit of Geneva," as Mr. Dulles pointed out, had been identified with "the hopes of the world," and both he and the President have leaned over backward to keep that spirit alive.

The trouble with this second meeting at Geneva is that the backdrop of the stage on which the foreign ministers will conduct their negotiations is strikingly different from that of a few months ago. At that first meeting of the heads of state, the background was bright not only because the Russians were all cordiality and smiles, but because they had just agreed to a peace treaty for Austria.

This time what they are saying at Geneva must be weighed against the fact that the Communists seem to be doing their best to foment a new war in the explosive Middle East.

American representatives will keep on trying to accomplish what they can by negotiation, even though hope is small, because there is no alternative that is not too frightful to contemplate.

But there is little likelihood of agreement or improvement in international relations until Russia abandons the course of promoting conflict between nations to which it has long adhered in favor of trying honestly to build a peaceful world.

"I Don't Think He Wants To Buy A Hat"

Stevenson Candidacy Not Developing According To Plan In Crucial Period

By Joseph and Stewart Alsop

WASHINGTON

In this crucial formative period, the presidential candidacy of Adlai E. Stevenson is not quite developing according to plan.

Some of the disappointments have been obvious enough, as in the South. Stevenson gave a remarkably large share of the last three years to making southern friends. The southerners were also elaborately wooed on Stevenson's behalf by the able former chairman of the Democratic National Committee, Stephen Mitchell.

As recently as a fortnight ago, there was no doubt in the Stevenson camp that these efforts had met with solid success. On the basis of a talk with Senator Richard Russell, of Georgia, last summer, Stevenson himself believed that the immensely powerful Russell would publicly endorse the Stevenson candidacy at an appropriate moment. The support of other southern leaders was also confidently counted on. A massive bloc of 250 southern and border state delegates was the planned key to the Stevenson convention strategy.

Several Heavy Blows

It was a heavy blow, therefore, when Senator Russell announced that Stevenson was a bit "too far to the left" for Georgia. It was a blow, too, when Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson of Texas issued a rallying call for a southern effort to impose a "centrist" candidate on the Democratic party, with the obvious implication that Adlai Stevenson was not a centrist. Over-all, the Stevenson strategy has plainly run into trouble on its crucial southern flank.

Then again, it is pretty plain that the recent attitude of former President Harry S. Truman has been another severe disappointment to the Stevenson camp. Stevenson made no secret of the wound he felt when Truman went to Albany, and there announced that he would be for Averell Harriman for President if he came from New York. Stevenson had counted on Truman's positive support, and this did not look like positive support to him.

The relationship between Truman and Stevenson has not been much improved, either, by their meeting in Chicago a few days ago. Both have been close-mouthed about what passed between them.

But those who know the two men best are pretty sure that Truman urged Stevenson to "get in there and fight" for the nomination: that Stevenson made his stock lament about fighting fellow Democrats; and that Truman, always impatient of anything savoring of political nice-nelly-ism, got a bit peppery about Stevenson's lack of gusto. And so Truman, who actually wanted Stevenson to announce his candidacy last summer, came out of the recent meeting with no warm praise for Stevenson to balance what he had said on Harriman's behalf.

Confirmed As Front-Runner

Doubt about Truman and doubt about the South are very serious and unpleasant new elements in the calculations of the Stevenson strategists. On the other hand, the last few days have also brought clear confirmation of Adlai Stevenson's status as the Democratic front-runner.

One sign was the invitation of the Minnesota delegates to enter their primary, which virtually read, "come on in and win." Another is the now-solid commitment of Pennsylvania to Stevenson. This came over the weekend, when Pennsylvania's Governor George M. Leader finally endorsed the Stevenson candidacy without qualification.

Mayor Joseph Clark, of Philadelphia, Leader's chief political adviser, James Finnegan, and the Pittsburgh boss, David Lawrence, all had to work pretty hard to get Leader to go the whole hog for Stevenson. Leader had been listening to the siren songs of Mayor Clark's opponents in the Philadelphia organization, who are supporters of Senator Estes Kefauver. But in the end, Leader was persuaded, and Pennsylvania can now be regarded as being solid for Stevenson in the manner of Illinois.

The question for Stevenson, then, is whether he can exploit the great advantage he now possesses in order to get a real bandwagon going. The possible answers to the question are suggested, moreover, by the little episode of Stevenson's not too happy meeting with Truman.

Must Show Appetite

As of today, there is very little doubt that the former President expects to end by casting his convention ballot for Stevenson, despite his greater personal sympathy for Averell Harriman. He has said as much, in fact, to those closest to him.

Again, the southerners may growl and grumble and maneuver for advantage. Commitments to them may have to be made, to soothe their discontent. But they would still rather have Stevenson as the party candidate than either Harriman or Kefauver; and they have no real candidate of their own.

But Truman will not end by casting his convention ballot for Stevenson, and the South will not swing back into line either, if Stevenson does not begin to show a real appetite for the battle ahead. Being a practical professional politician, Truman knows that the Democrats have a hard fight on their hands this year. Stevenson has got to prove he is ready and eager for that fight. That is why the problem of the Democratic primaries is the key problem of the Stevenson candidacy — and a problem that cannot be solved by just going into those primaries, like Minnesota, where no hard fight is expected.

Mystery Of Flying Saucers Now Officially Solved

By David Lawrence

WASHINGTON — The mystery of the flying saucers — it really never was a mystery except in an official sense — has been solved officially at last.

It turns out that the American people had the truth all the time —they did see flying objects in the air shaped like saucers. But for official reasons, mostly related to security, it was apparently decided never to admit that there were objects of such shape—planes or missiles — which could rise vertically.

The key to the misunderstanding is in one word, "conventional." From the start of the stories, the Air Force insisted that observers were engaged in a "misinterpretation of various conventional objects."

Original Thesis Maintained

Everything that is on the drawing boards or in the test period could be called "conventional." Certainly when jet planes first whizzed across the skies they were unusual to the public but in the technical language used in official statements they could be termed just "conventional" airplanes, if for security reasons it was desired to regard them as such.

It is interesting to go back five years and compare what the Air Force and Defense Department said then, with what is being said officially now. There is indeed a significant similarity and the original thesis is maintained. Here is what the Air Force said a few days ago in an official statement:

"We are now entering a period of aviation technology in which aircraft of unusual configuration and flight characteristics will begin to appear.

"The Air Force and the other armed services have under development several vertical-rising, high-performance aircraft, and as early as last year, a propeller-driven vertical-rising aircraft was flown. The Air Force will fly the first jet-powered vertical-rising airplane in a matter of days. We have another project under contract with Avro Ltd. of Canada, which could result in disc-shaped aircraft . . ."

Everybody familiar with aviation knows that it takes years of testing of new models before a contract is let or an announcement is made that a plane will be formally exhibited to the public.

Close Similarity Shown

The Air Force now says that its own study of the reports about "flying saucers" shows that "all the unidentified aerial objects could have been explained if more complete observational data had been available' 'and that aircraft, balloons and shooting stars and missiles of various kinds undoubtedly accounted for the strange things people saw or thought they saw. It is officially admitted that a fifth of the reports involved aircraft of some kind.

But it is interesting to go back to an article in U. S. News & World Report for April 7, 1950, which gave the first comprehensive explanation of the "flying saucers." In that issue models of "convertiplanes" and combinations of helicopters and conventional aircraft were described and pictures printed of those models which show a close similarity to the planned Air Force "convertiplanes" of 1955. The 1950 magazine article said.

"The first U. S. model designed by Charles H. Zimmerman of the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, was elliptical in shape, powered by two piston engines and driven by twin propellers. It had a maximum speed between 400 and 500 miles an hour.

"More important, it could rise almost vertically and its minimum speed for landing was only about 35 miles an hour, a great advantage in military and naval aircraft. And it was far more maneuverable than conventional military planes."

What happened to this early model? The same magazine report in 1950 says:

"It was purchased by the Navy after the original model was tested in 1942. The first full-sized aircraft, built by Chance-Vought, was thoroughly tested by Navy engineers. Then a statement was released that this project had been dropped. Early experimenting with 'saucers' centered in the Navy."

This correspondent on April 6, 1950, published extracts from a memorandum furnished him by members of the staff of U. S. News & World Report who investigated the stories of "flying saucers." It read in part as follows:

Competent Witnesses

"The Air Force has received statements from hundreds of people in more than 300 cases in which flying saucers were believed to have been seen. At least a dozen of these cases involved thoroughly competent witnesses who had a clear view of the saucer aircraft. They are Air Force flyers who chased saucers, commercial pilots who had a good look at the circular aircraft, high ranking Army officers who saw one over Fort Knox, air technicians at Wright Field, balloon experts who tracked one near White Sands, New Mexico . . .

"The saucers observed traveled several hundred miles an hour and often against the wind, eliminating the possibility of weather balloons. They maneuvered and even rose vertically, eliminating meteors. They were often seen by dozens or even hundreds of people at once so that hysteria is not a likely answer . . .

"Evidence clearly points to a project within the United States. It is also obviously an expensive one on which millions probably have been sunk in research. That indicates a government project, one done with great secrecy."

Experimentation in new types of aircraft has been going on since 1945. Some are convertiplanes, some circular, some resembling helicopters, and some still on the "secret" list. Among those revealed publicly, the McDonnell Aircraft Company of St. Louis, the Bell Aviation Company at Fort Worth, Texas, and the Convair Company on the West Coast, all have characteristics that were reported originally in the "flying saucer" stories. More than a dozen other aircraft companies are developing some new types of planes and the testing areas coincide with the places where early reports came on flying saucers.

Now the "secret" is out. At least it is officially admitted that "jet-powered vertical-rising, high-performance" aircraft are here and will be seen in great numbers from now on. Nobody officially is saying how and where they were developed and tested and during what period of time.

A Wonderful Character

By Bob Considine

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 — (INS) — Probably more than any other individual Clark Griffith made baseball the "national pastime." Presidents of the United States had attended ballgames in Washington long before that day in 1912 when Griff audaciously stuck a ball in William Howard Taft's chubby paw and ordered him to throw it out on the field. McKinley liked baseball and so did Teddy Roosevelt.

But Griff had the rudimentary salesmanship that made a foil out of the men in the White House. He kept after it doggedly with annual trips to the executive offices to present a gold season's pass to the President and a pass and alligator bag to the First Lady. It became a part of our culture. So much so that something approximating a political and social crisis was caused in April of 1953 when President Eisenhower dodged the ritual in order to play golf.

MacArthur Watched Ruth

Griff window-dressed his gentle old ballyard with cabinet officers, senators in season, congressmen in and out of season, and year-round brass. Maj. Douglas MacArthur was among those in the stands when a pitcher named Babe Ruth made his Washington debut in 1914—just as MacArthur, as a lieutenant, had seen Walter Johnson's first start there in 1907.

He was a wonderful character, this Griff. Right to the ninth inning of his life of three quarters of a century in baseball, he'd still size up a new acquaintance with the clear-eyed scrutiny which he had clamped on "enemy" hitters while winning well over 200 games as a pitcher. No person, no crisis, no deplorable Washington team ever really vanquished this fearless man. He must have given Death a battle it will never forget.

Griff fought chance as if it were a plague. Most of the things big league baseball fans today take for granted Griff battled against on the ground that they were the work of "bushwhackers." He could make "bushwhacker" sound like a curse word when he wanted to, the fire blazing in eyes that rested beneath the gray thatches of his brows. He opposed night baseball as if it were dishonest, then became just about its widest user. The liberalization of owner-player relations found him a staunch reactionary but he was doting and generous with men who delivered for him. He barred George Marshall's Redskins as unkempt gypsies, then relented and embraced them.

Through the years Griff won a reputation for niggardliness while bringing up a big family of adopted children and taking care of a small army of non-working relatives and old cronies to the n'th degree.

Capital Not Unlimited

He never had the limitless capital of baseball's rich men and he ran his operation accordingly. If he could show a profit finishing seventh or eighth with Cubans and Puerto Ricans but lose money finishing that low with second rate American ballplayers he'd take the imported brand and stay alive to fight another battle of wits with richer men in the game.

He won such a battle in 1933—Washington's last pennant year—by trading astutely for Earl Whitehill, Goose Goslin, Luke Sewell, Walter Stewart, Heinie Manush, Al Crowder and a few others. In 1945 he came within a dropped fly ball of doing it again with a collection of walking wounded named Joe and Jose.

Griff was one of the founders of the American League. He was its talent scout. His raids on the rosters of the National League were the sensation of the turn of the century. He got the great Nap Lajoie to jump from the Phils with money Griff had borrowed from one of the owners of the same team. Honus Wagner locked himself in a pool hall to resist the temptation of jumping the Pirates. Griff's raids made the game a profession with honored contracts instead of piece work.

As a punk baseball writer traveling with Griff's team of 20 and more years ago I used to wound the old gentleman with an occasional story about his pantalooned incompetents, and would wince as an independent newspaperman when he'd introduce us to strangers as "my newspaper boys." Now, God bless him, I'm sorry for what little unhappiness I caused him in those dusty days and I'm proud to be included in his possessive pronoun.

Helpful Advice On What To Do After Auto Crash

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Highway accidents usually represent catastrophes and those who are first upon the scene never forget the experience. What is done during the first few minutes may save the life of a driver with a broken neck or the unconscious child bleeding to death.

Chance plays a role because the average person cannot be expected to know all the answers to first aid. There are no hard and fast rules. After a highway crash, the driver usually gets out of the car quickly; if he doesn't he is either dead or seriously injured.

When the victim is found lying on the ground, he should be left alone unless hemorrhage needs immediate attention. The next step is to warn oncoming traffic by placing flares or directing cars to detour around the accident scene.

Many minor collisions have become major accidents because such precautions were not taken.

The next person who appears should be asked to telephone the authorities and give the location of the crash and the extent of damages. A life might be saved if the ambulance arrives with the police car instead of waiting for the police before calling the ambulance.

As the number of bystanders increases a few will get excited and insist that something be done. Many well meaning persons behave in this way under stress and it takes a calm person to control the situation.

The importance of good transportation to the hospital cannot be overstated. Since the police and ambulance usually arrive before a physician, the responsibility for emergency care falls on them. For this reason, the ambulance attendants should be well trained rather than youngsters who like to drive fast and blow the siren.

The city fathers of Flint, Mich., deserve credit for passing an ordinance for ambulance attendants to have certificates of proficiency. These men are beyond the first aid stage; they are experienced and trustworthy in this field. One Flint hospital keeps a record of how the attendants handle the injured; three mistakes and they are out of a job.

Other cities have followed this example. Accident prevention is the ideal solution to the traffic casualty problem but until it becomes a reality, the bystander must know how to cooperate. The medical profession will continue to employ its facilities and skill to minimize the victim's suffering and prevent death.

TENSE MUSCLES

D. O. T. writes: You say that psychogenic rheumatism is pain in and about the joints, muscles, and tendons without evidence of arthritis. Does our emotional make-up have any thing to do with it?

REPLY

Yes, the word psychogenic means of emotional origin. Most victims of this condition develop pain during periods of stress and strain. Symptoms are less noticeable when conditions settle down.

FOOD PHASES

Mrs. H. P. writes: My 7-year-old son insists upon catsup at every meal, on everything including toast. Is this harmful?

REPLY

No. Next year he may switch to peanut butter or raspberry jam. Many children go through these phases and, to my knowledge, there is no adequate explanation.

When he finally sat down, Toastmaster Blythe rose and declared solemnly, "Thank you, Mr. Connolly. I will never eat another fish.

Bobby Bragan Named Pittsburgh Pirates Field Manager

Stars' Pilot Returns To Big Leagues

Former Philadelphia Catcher Pays High Tribute To Rickey

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates picked Bobby Bragan as field manager today, and thereby started a new National League guessing game: Is Bragan a "Rickey man" or a "Brown man."

Bragan himself, moving up from the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League, promptly paid tribute to Branch Rickey Sr., whose 5-year contract as Pirate general manager ended only yesterday.

But General Manager Joe L. Brown, successor to Rickey, emphatically labelled Bragan as a "Brown man" and said he will stake his record as general manager on Bragan's performance with the team.

Rickey In Mexico

Rickey wasn't at the news conference, and reportedly was en route to Mexico to look over some player prospects in the winter league there.

He couldn't be reached immediately for his view of the situation.

But this much was clear: Bragan's name popped up in speculation about the new Pirate field manager within minutes of the announcement by Haney on Sept. 25 that he had been told he would not be retained for this year.

At that time Rickey still was general manager and the imminence of his retirement had not attracted any very great attention. So the gossip that linked Bragan's name to the job was traceable to his association with Rickey over a good many of his baseball years.

Bobby, originally an infielder, switched to catching while with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1942, and was a playing manager in 72 games at Hollywood last year where his team rallied to finish third after a sorry start.

Not Playing Pilot

He said he doesn't intend to be a playing manager in the majors "unless the bottom drops out" of the Pirate team.

He inherits a club that finished a lively last, and looked to be definitely on the upgrade at the end of the season. Bragan hinted very strongly he'll give a lot of his Hollywood mainstays another chance at the big leagues to further the Pirate youth movement.

Specifically, Bragan named outfielder Bobby Delgreco as outranked only by Willie Mays and Duke Snider among present National League players, and said pitcher Bob Garber, infielders Dick Smith and Curt Roberts and outfielder Carlos Bernier were Pittsburgh prospects on the triple-A team last year.

Bragan told the news conference that he would pick his own coaches, that he intends to retain Clyde Sukeforth, and that he is "strong" for George Sisler, another likely choice.

Managed Fort Worth

After playing with the Phillies in 1940-42, and Brooklyn through the 1947 World Series—when he got a pinch-hit double off Joe Page—Bragan began managing at Fort Worth in 1948.

His team won two pennants, was fourth in 1951 and second in 1952. Then he shifted to Hollywood, won the 1953 Coast League championship, tied for the pennant the next year but lost to San Diego in a playoff, and finished third last season.

Big Conference Game Set Friday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — George Washington, generally a second rate football school but long a menace to West Virginia, is likely to give the 1955 Mountaineers their most rugged test in the Southern Conference's "big game" of the year here Friday night.

As an indication, GW's 209-pound line will be the first to outweigh West Virginia's 206-pound backfield this season.

Both schools are 3-0 in the conference while West Virginia's overall record is 6-0 and GW's 5-1. GW lost 28-0 to Florida in a game in which the Colonials were hamstrung by injuries.

West Virginia, ranked seventh in the U.S. has the best ground gaining record in the country, averaging 450 yards a contest. The Mountaineers' 170-yard average also tops the Nation in passing. In rushing, West Virginia is fourth with an average of 280 yards.

Against that formidable offensive record, GW stacks the sixth best defensive mark in the land. It has yielded 169 yards a game. In passing defense, GW is fifth with a per-game yield of 47 yards.

GW's coach, Bo Sherman, acknowledged today that the Mountaineers have as good a team as any in the land, but wasn't conceding a thing about the game. He said he wasn't going to be satisfied with a moral victory.

That's what GW earned last year when it held West Virginia to 13-7. The Colonials led 7-6 going into the final quarter and gave up only 224 yards to the offense-minded Mountaineers.

"They have everything," Sherman said, "experience, speed, weight, poise. They've been playing together for four years and they're at their peak. They're real good."

Sherman said he was cooking up no new plays for the Griffith Stadium game, expected to draw some 25,000 fans, the biggest home crowd in GW's history.

"We scrimmaged on fundamentals" Sherman said. "It's going to be a defensive game and we're concentrating on stopping their good backs."

The key men in West Virginia's attack are Bobby Moss, 10th in the country in rushing with 450 yards and a 9.3 average, and Freddy Wyant, the left-handed T-quarterback who has passed for 534 yards on 32 completions in 56 tries.

GW's best offensive bet is sophomore Mike Sommer, a 170-pound track star who has averaged five yards a try in gaining 359 yards rushing.

But the game is likely to be decided in the line where two potential All Americas clash, tackle Bruce Bosley of West Virginia and center Dick Gaspari of George Washington.

Despite the power of West Virginia's line, Sherman noted he had three linemen, at least, that he wouldn't trade for anybody, Gaspari, tackle Dave Liddick and end Paul Thompson.

Four Foreign Horses Work Out At Laurel

Prep For $65,000 International Nov. 11

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 2 (AP)—Four invading horses for Laurel's big International got their first feel of an American race track today.

England's Nucleus and Darius, Ireland's Panaslipper, and Canada's Prefect arrival at Laurel Monday for the $65,000 race on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

All four were out on the track today.

Darius, Panaslipper and Prefect filed Indian fashion onto the infield grass course on which the International will be run and spent a full hour walking around it.

Mrs. Helen Johnson-Houghton elected to send Nucleus over Laurel's main dirt track at a brisk canter.

Reg Phillips, head trainer for the Johnson-Houghton entry, jogged the horse behind Laurel's outrider to the front stretch and Nuvleus broke away, fighting for his head. Phillips kept him well in check and Nucleus cantered along at slightly over a two-minute gait.

Darius, Panaslipper and Prefect kept to the grass.

Geoffrey Wragg, in charge of getting Darius ready for the race, led the three on two full circuits of the mile course.

Trainer Vance Longden broke Prefect off then and galloped once around the strip. Prefect then rejoined the other two for another walking tour.

American trainers watched every move carefully.

Wragg indicated he will give Darius a bit more strenuous workout Thursday morning.

The English and Irish representatives will be joined Friday by three more foreign horses representing France and Germany. Mahan and the filly Picounda are the French horses. Baron Henry Thyssen's Ataturk is the German entry.

Ed Vereb Stars In Terp Practice

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 2 (AP)—Halfback Ed Vereb of the University of Maryland starred again today as Coach Jim Tatum's Terps ran through their second and last scrimmage of the week.

Vereb broke away for several long runs in the scrimmage, which placed emphasis on the ground attack.

Defensively, the team concentrated on blocking Louisiana State University's expected passing attack, but also spent some time on LSU running plays.

"They had a lot of hustle there today," said Tatum of the workout.

The squad tapers off with dummy drills tomorrow, then has a day of rest before LSU arrives to do battle here Saturday.

Wins $29,150 Sports Page Race At Jamaica

The 8-year-old son of Piping Rock-Imperatrice, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, scored by a length and a half over Clearwater Stables' Dark Peter in the swift time of 1:11 for the six furlongs. Brookmeade Stable's Gandharva, who made up a world of ground in the stretch, finished three parts of a length back of Dark Peter. Jack J. Amiel's Mr. Turf was another length astern.

Eleanora R. Sears' Georgian, who set the early pace, stopped badly in the drive. Squared Away rushed into the lead at the three eights pole and once in front wasn't menaced.

The victory was worth $20,000 net to Mrs. Burke, wife of Eddie Burke, former pro basketball star with the Original Celtics, who now makes his home in Miami and New York. Mrs. Burke is the daughter of Trainer G. C. (Cary) Winfrey.

Coupled with the High Tide Stable's Fabulist, Squared Away was the favorite with 20,581 fans, returning mutuels of $6.40, $3.40 and $2.50. Dark Peter paid $3.60 and $2.70 and Gandharva was $4.00 to show.

Pro Football Attendance Up

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Pittsburgh Pirates picked Bobby Bragan as field manager today, and thereby started a new National League guessing game: Is Bragan a "Rickey man" or a "Brown man."

Bragan himself, moving up from the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast League, promptly paid tribute to Branch Rickey Sr., whose 5-year contract as Pirate general manager ended only yesterday.

But General Manager Joe L. Brown, successor to Rickey, emphatically labelled Bragan as a "Brown man" and said he will stake his record as general manager on Bragan's performance with the team.

Rickey In Mexico

Rickey wasn't at the news conference, and reportedly was en route to Mexico to look over some player prospects in the winter league there.

He couldn't be reached immediately for his view of the situation.

But this much was clear: Bragan's name popped up in speculation about the new Pirate field manager within minutes of the announcement by Haney on Sept. 25 that he had been told he would not be retained for this year.

At that time Rickey still was general manager and the imminence of his retirement had not attracted any very great attention. So the gossip that linked Bragan's name to the job was traceable to his association with Rickey over a good many of his baseball years.

Bobby, originally an infielder, switched to catching while with the Philadelphia Phillies in 1942, and was a playing manager in 72 games at Hollywood last year where his team rallied to finish third after a sorry start.

Not Playing Pilot

He said he doesn't intend to be a playing manager in the majors "unless the bottom drops out" of the Pirate team.

He inherits a club that finished a lively last, and looked to be definitely on the upgrade at the end of the season. Bragan hinted very strongly he'll give a lot of his Hollywood mainstays another chance at the big leagues to further the Pirate youth movement.

Specifically, Bragan named outfielder Bobby Delgreco as outranked only by Willie Mays and Duke Snider among present National League players, and said pitcher Bob Garber, infielders Dick Smith and Curt Roberts and outfielder Carlos Bernier were Pittsburgh prospects on the triple-A team last year.

Bragan told the news conference that he would pick his own coaches, that he intends to retain Clyde Sukeforth, and that he is "strong" for George Sisler, another likely choice.

Managed Fort Worth

After playing with the Phillies in 1940-42, and Brooklyn through the 1947 World Series—when he got a pinch-hit double off Joe Page—Bragan began managing at Fort Worth in 1948.

His team won two pennants, was fourth in 1951 and second in 1952. Then he shifted to Hollywood, won the 1953 Coast League championship, tied for the pennant the next year but lost to San Diego in a playoff, and finished third last season.

Big Conference Game Set Friday

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2 (AP) — George Washington, generally a second rate football school but long a menace to West Virginia, is likely to give the 1955 Mountaineers their most rugged test in the Southern Conference's "big game" of the year here Friday night.

As an indication, GW's 209-pound line will be the first to outweigh West Virginia's 206-pound backfield this season.

Both schools are 3-0 in the conference while West Virginia's overall record is 6-0 and GW's 5-1. GW lost 28-0 to Florida in a game in which the Colonials were hamstrung by injuries.

West Virginia, ranked seventh in the U.S. has the best ground gaining record in the country, averaging 450 yards a contest. The Mountaineers' 170-yard average also tops the Nation in passing. In rushing, West Virginia is fourth with an average of 280 yards.

Against that formidable offensive record, GW stacks the sixth best defensive mark in the land. It has yielded 169 yards a game. In passing defense, GW is fifth with a per-game yield of 47 yards.

GW's coach, Bo Sherman, acknowledged today that the Mountaineers have as good a team as any in the land, but wasn't conceding a thing about the game. He said he wasn't going to be satisfied with a moral victory.

That's what GW earned last year when it held West Virginia to 13-7. The Colonials led 7-6 going into the final quarter and gave up only 224 yards to the offense-minded Mountaineers.

"They have everything," Sherman said, "experience, speed, weight, poise. They've been playing together for four years and they're at their peak. They're real good."

Sherman said he was cooking up no new plays for the Griffith Stadium game, expected to draw some 25,000 fans, the biggest home crowd in GW's history.

"We scrimmaged on fundamentals" Sherman said. "It's going to be a defensive game and we're concentrating on stopping their good backs."

The key men in West Virginia's attack are Bobby Moss, 10th in the country in rushing with 450 yards and a 9.3 average, and Freddy Wyant, the left-handed T-quarterback who has passed for 534 yards on 32 completions in 56 tries.

GW's best offensive bet is sophomore Mike Sommer, a 170-pound track star who has averaged five yards a try in gaining 359 yards rushing.

But the game is likely to be decided in the line where two potential All Americas clash, tackle Bruce Bosley of West Virginia and center Dick Gaspari of George Washington.

Despite the power of West Virginia's line, Sherman noted he had three linemen, at least, that he wouldn't trade for anybody, Gaspari, tackle Dave Liddick and end Paul Thompson.

Four Foreign Horses Work Out At Laurel

Prep For $65,000 International Nov. 11

LAUREL, Md., Nov. 2 (AP)—Four invading horses for Laurel's big International got their first feel of an American race track today.

England's Nucleus and Darius, Ireland's Panaslipper, and Canada's Prefect arrival at Laurel Monday for the $65,000 race on Veterans Day, Nov. 11.

All four were out on the track today.

Darius, Panaslipper and Prefect filed Indian fashion onto the infield grass course on which the International will be run and spent a full hour walking around it.

Mrs. Helen Johnson-Houghton elected to send Nucleus over Laurel's main dirt track at a brisk canter.

Reg Phillips, head trainer for the Johnson-Houghton entry, jogged the horse behind Laurel's outrider to the front stretch and Nuvleus broke away, fighting for his head. Phillips kept him well in check and Nucleus cantered along at slightly over a two-minute gait.

Darius, Panaslipper and Prefect kept to the grass.

Geoffrey Wragg, in charge of getting Darius ready for the race, led the three on two full circuits of the mile course.

Trainer Vance Longden broke Prefect off then and galloped once around the strip. Prefect then rejoined the other two for another walking tour.

American trainers watched every move carefully.

Wragg indicated he will give Darius a bit more strenuous workout Thursday morning.

The English and Irish representatives will be joined Friday by three more foreign horses representing France and Germany. Mahan and the filly Picounda are the French horses. Baron Henry Thyssen's Ataturk is the German entry.

Ed Vereb Stars In Terp Practice

COLLEGE PARK, Md., Nov. 2 (AP)—Halfback Ed Vereb of the University of Maryland starred again today as Coach Jim Tatum's Terps ran through their second and last scrimmage of the week.

Vereb broke away for several long runs in the scrimmage, which placed emphasis on the ground attack.

Defensively, the team concentrated on blocking Louisiana State University's expected passing attack, but also spent some time on LSU running plays.

"They had a lot of hustle there today," said Tatum of the workout.

The 8-year-old son of Piping Rock-Imperatrice, ridden by Eddie Arcaro, scored by a length and a half over Clearwater Stables' Dark Peter in the swift time of 1:11 for the six furlongs. Brookmeade Stable's Gandharva, who made up a world of ground in the stretch, finished three parts of a length back of Dark Peter. Jack J. Amiel's Mr. Turf was another length astern.

Eleanora R. Sears' Georgian, who set the early pace, stopped badly in the drive. Squared Away rushed into the lead at the three eights pole and once in front wasn't menaced.

The victory was worth $20,000 net to Mrs. Burke, wife of Eddie Burke, former pro basketball star with the Original Celtics, who now makes his home in Miami and New York. Mrs. Burke is the daughter of Trainer G. C. (Cary) Winfrey.

Coupled with the High Tide Stable's Fabulist, Squared Away was the favorite with 20,581 fans, returning mutuels of $6.40, $3.40 and $2.50. Dark Peter paid $3.60 and $2.70 and Gandharva was $4.00 to show.

Navy Expects To Rebound Against Duke

Blue Devils Have Lost Two In Row

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 2 (AP) — Navy football team which lost its first game last Saturday will be on the rebound this week for an equally anxious Duke team, Coach Eddie Erdelatz predicted today.

"The wake is over now and they'll bounce back," the Navy mentor said in summing up his team's attitude after a 21-7 loss to Notre Dame at South Bend.

Erdelatz said the players naturally had felt "very badly" about the defeat. "If they felt any other way they wouldn't be athletes," he added. "They've been working hard this week to correct mistakes."

The Notre Dame loss may or may not bode ill for the Blue Devils, who are smarting under the sting of two straight defeats by Pitt and Georgia Tech after a terrific early season start.

Similar Situation

A similar situation came up last year. Navy had dropped a 6-0 decision to Notre Dame the week before it played once-beaten, once-tied Duke in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va. The Middies rebounded to put together their best attack of the season in routing Duke 40-7.

Duke has not forgotten that humiliating defeat and the talk from Durham this season has been that the Blue Devils wanted to down Navy as much as anyone on their schedule. Navy is preparing for a fired-up opponent.

Coach Bill Murray of Duke thinks this talk of pointing for the game has been exaggerated. "We've had to play some tough games week by week," he told a Navy press conference in a telephone interview from Durham, "and we've had to think of these as we came to them."

The Blue Devils played Ohio State, Pitt and Georgia Tech on consecutive Saturdays.

Duke Very Good Team

Navy backfield Coach Len Eshmont, who scouted the Pitt and Georgia Tech games, called Duke "a very good team" and classed them above the 1954 eleven Navy handled so easily.

Coach Erdelatz reported that his squad is in good shape physically except for fullback Dick Guest, nursing rib bruises from the Notre Dame game, and end Earle Smith, who has been out three weeks with a bad leg and has given way to Jerve Jim Owen.

The game will be played in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium at 2 p.m. Saturday. Navy athletic officials expect a crowd of 30,000.

Alexander To Offer Trophy To League

Irvin "Irish" Alexander, Baltimore, former resident of Lonaconing, announced last night he will offer a championship trophy to the victorious team of the Fearer Memorial Church Basketball League.

Alexander said he is offering the trophy to the league's top team as a memorial to Clifford Fearer, well-known Frostburg sportsman who died in a fatal auto-truck crash in LaVale October 19.

East Has Several Players Of All-American Caliber

Navy's George Welsh Among Those Named

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Although the East doesn't have an undefeated football team of major caliber nor a contender for national honors, this section has come up with four or five players who have been strongly recommended for All-America consideration.

And at least a dozen more are tabbed by members of The Associated Press Eastern selection board as the kind of players who could make good on any team and might win greater recognition if they were playing with one of the national leaders.

Rather surprisingly, the East's two All-America players of 1954 aren't the ones who are getting the best notices this year. Navy's Ron Beagle generally is regarded as the best all-around end in the East, but he's been overshadowed to some extent by the player who throws passes to him—quarterback George Welsh.

Shifted To Tackle

Army's Ralph Chesnauskas, All-America guard last season, was shifted to tackle and then to end, moves which helped his team but hurt his chances.

Others listed as possible All-America material are Jim Buonopane of Holy Cross and Bill Meigs of Harvard, a pair of rigged guards; tackle Tom Powell of Colgate and halfback Jimmy Brown of Syracuse.

Buonopane, an agile 5-foot, 9-inch 190-pounder had to revert to last year's tactics when the Crusaders were routed by Syracuse. He didn't get much help from the other linemen and as a result had to play as a sort of roving linebacker and grab anyone he could reach. At that he made 13 tackles in the first half. The rest of the time he has impressed observers as a fine running guard and a terrific linebacker.

Meigs also has had to cover up for his teammates, virtually playing two positions on defense, but, so far no opponent has been able to hurt Harvard down the middle. He doesn't commit himself foolishly and he doesn't let himself get moved out by blockers.

Pellegrini Praises Brown

Colgate's Powell, a rangy 200-pounder, hasn't been quite as consistently outstanding as these two, but he's extremely quick and a sharp tackler and Lahrer gives him credit for the biggest contributions to Colgate's success.

After Maryland beat Syracuse, Bob Pellegrini, the Terps' All-America center candidate said of Brown:

Brown weighs 212 pounds and he's fast enough to run away from almost anyone on the field. He's also big and rugged enough to run right over them and likes the rough going. In addition he can pass and kick.

Some professional football scouts have let fall the idea that Chesnauskas is the best college lineman in the country, but that's hard to prove this season. After learning one new position, he looked like one of the East's best tackles. Now he's at another spot and in his first game at end caught a touchdown pass and threw some crushing blocks.

Beagle Is Decoy

Navy's Welsh, as cool and calculating as a pro quarterback until he ran into Notre Dame, was outshone by Paul Hornung that day. Still he's a fine passer and smart play director who deserves consideration. One reason why Beagle hasn't been such a standout this season is that Welsh has frequently used him as a decoy while passing to someone else.

Army's Don Holleder, who might have made it as an end, judging by last year's performances, has had to play quarterback this season and Princeton's Royce Flippin, another 1954 stockout, hasn't played at all because of a knee injury.

Richmond Faces Block Nov. 14

Assets To Be Sold At Public Auction

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 2 (AP)—Assets of the Richmond Virginians baseball club of the Class AAA International League will be sold at public auction Nov. 14 at 2 p.m. to satisfy a tax claim of $79,218.68.

The sale will be conducted by the federal tax collector at Parker Field, home grounds of the Virginians. Announcement of the date and place was made today by Internal Revenue Service officials. The Richmond club's assets were seized yesterday.

"We are prepared to sell the assets at that time to satisfy the government's tax claim against the Virginians," said Clifford W. Glotzbach, Virginia district IRS director.

The federal government claims that Consolidated Enterprises, Inc., trading as the Richmond Virginians, and headed by Harry C. Seibold, owes the money for unpaid admission taxes for 1954 and withholding and social security taxes in 1954-55.

The club's assets, including its franchise, 18 player contracts and miscellaneous equipment will be sold to the highest bidder if Consolidated does not pay the taxes before the sale date, Glotzbach said.

Maentz Named Best Lineman

End Helped Michigan Defeat Iowa Eleven

[By The Associated Press]

Tom Maentz, a husky 220-pound end for the University of Michigan, turned defeat into victory for the Wolverines against Iowa Saturday. He caught a forward pass and went 60 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown in Michigan's great last quarter rally.

For his performance that delighted Michigan adherents in the crowd of 72,000 at Ann Arbor and in a national television audience, Maentz was selected today as The Associated Press lineman of the week.

Maentz, a 6-2 junior from Holland, Mich., earlier had scored one of Michigan's touchdowns, but Iowa still led 21-20 until his spectacular catch and run that put the Wolverines ahead for good.

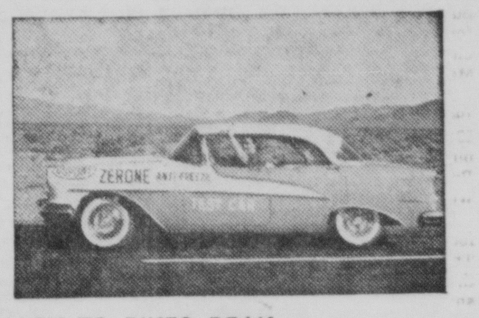
DARING TESTS PROVE NO BOIL-AWAY WITH ZERONE®
Du Pont's Economy Anti-Freeze



THROUGH DEATH VALLEY TO PIKES PEAK
Tom McCahill, the nation's number-one car tester, was asked to make this 1,300-mile run. Du Pont wanted to convince car owners that its economy anti-freeze—"Zerone"—won't boil away under virtually any driving conditions—despite some opinions to the contrary!
At Death Valley enough "Zerone" was put into the test car for 10° below zero protection. Then the radiator pressure cap was put on and officially sealed. A flask was attached to the overflow pipe to catch any of the "Zerone" solution—should it boil away.

McCahill's own report: "Not one drop of 'Zerone' boiled away. The catch flask was empty. There was no loss of anti-freeze protection! My test run proved to me that 'Zerone' won't boil away in today's modern cars with properly operating pressurized cooling systems."
IN FLORIDA... NO BOIL-AWAY PROVED AGAIN!

At Daytona Beach, under NASCAR* supervision, the "Zerone" test car raced along the beach at speeds between 110 and 115 mph for 23 miles. Though engine temperatures averaged 25° above normal, not a drop of "Zerone" boiled away!

Navy Expects To Rebound Against Duke

Blue Devils Have Lost Two In Row

By HERB THOMPSON

ANNAPOLIS, Nov. 2 (AP) — Navy football team which lost its first game last Saturday will be on the rebound this week for an equally anxious Duke team, Coach Eddie Erdelatz predicted today.

"The wake is over now and they'll bounce back," the Navy mentor said in summing up his team's attitude after a 21-7 loss to Notre Dame at South Bend.

Erdelatz said the players naturally had felt "very badly" about the defeat. "If they felt any other way they wouldn't be athletes," he added. "They've been working hard this week to correct mistakes."

The Notre Dame loss may or may not bode ill for the Blue Devils, who are smarting under the sting of two straight defeats by Pitt and Georgia Tech after a terrific early season start.

Similar Situation

A similar situation came up last year. Navy had dropped a 6-0 decision to Notre Dame the week before it played once-beaten, once-tied Duke in the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va. The Middies rebounded to put together their best attack of the season in routing Duke 40-7.

Duke has not forgotten that humiliating defeat and the talk from Durham this season has been that the Blue Devils wanted to down Navy as much as anyone on their schedule. Navy is preparing for a fired-up opponent.

Coach Bill Murray of Duke thinks this talk of pointing for the game has been exaggerated. "We've had to play some tough games week by week," he told a Navy press conference in a telephone interview from Durham, "and we've had to think of these as we came to them."

The Blue Devils played Ohio State, Pitt and Georgia Tech on consecutive Saturdays.

Duke Very Good Team

Navy backfield Coach Len Eshmont, who scouted the Pitt and Georgia Tech games, called Duke "a very good team" and classed them above the 1954 eleven Navy handled so easily.

Coach Erdelatz reported that his squad is in good shape physically except for fullback Dick Guest, nursing rib bruises from the Notre Dame game, and end Earle Smith, who has been out three weeks with a bad leg and has given way to Jerve Jim Owen.

Vince Monto, a power running junior, will replace Guest and could give the Middies even more offensive wallop.

The game will be played in Baltimore's Memorial Stadium at 2 p.m. Saturday. Navy athletic officials expect a crowd of 30,000.

Alexander To Offer Trophy To League

Irvin "Irish" Alexander, Baltimore, former resident of Lonaconing, announced last night he will offer a championship trophy to the victorious team of the Fearer Memorial Church Basketball League.

Alexander said he is offering the trophy to the league's top team as a memorial to Clifford Fearer, well-known Frostburg sportsman who died in a fatal auto-truck crash in LaVale October 19.

East Has Several Players Of All-American Caliber

Navy's George Welsh Among Those Named

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.

NEW YORK, Nov. 2 (AP)—Although the East doesn't have an undefeated football team of major caliber nor a contender for national honors, this section has come up with four or five players who have been strongly recommended for All-America consideration.

And at least a dozen more are tabbed by members of The Associated Press Eastern selection board as the kind of players who could make good on any team and might win greater recognition if they were playing with one of the national leaders.

Rather surprisingly, the East's two All-America players of 1954 aren't the ones who are getting the best notices this year. Navy's Ron Beagle generally is regarded as the best all-around end in the East, but he's been overshadowed to some extent by the player who throws passes to him—quarterback George Welsh.

Shifted To Tackle

Army's Ralph Chesnauskas, All-America guard last season, was shifted to tackle and then to end, moves which helped his team but hurt his chances.

Others listed as possible All-America material are Jim Buonopane of Holy Cross and Bill Meigs of Harvard, a pair of rigged guards; tackle Tom Powell of Colgate and halfback Jimmy Brown of Syracuse.

Buonopane, an agile 5-foot, 9-inch 190-pounder had to revert to last year's tactics when the Crusaders were routed by Syracuse. He didn't get much help from the other linemen and as a result had to play as a sort of roving linebacker and grab anyone he could reach. At that he made 13 tackles in the first half. The rest of the time he has impressed observers as a fine running guard and a terrific linebacker.

Meigs also has had to cover up for his teammates, virtually playing two positions on defense, but, so far no opponent has been able to hurt Harvard down the middle. He doesn't commit himself foolishly and he doesn't let himself get moved out by blockers.

Pellegrini Praises Brown

Colgate's Powell, a rangy 200-pounder, hasn't been quite as consistently outstanding as these two, but he's extremely quick and a sharp tackler and Lahrer gives him credit for the biggest contributions to Colgate's success.

After Maryland beat Syracuse, Bob Pellegrini, the Terps' All-America center candidate said of Brown:

"If he ran behind our line, he would have run right out of the stadium."

Brown weighs 212 pounds and he's fast enough to run away from almost anyone on the field. He's also big and rugged enough to run right over them and likes the rough going. In addition he can pass and kick.

Some professional football scouts have let fall the idea that Chesnauskas is the best college lineman in the country, but that's hard to prove this season. After learning one new position, he looked like one of the East's best tackles. Now he's at another spot and in his first game at end caught a touchdown pass and threw some crushing blocks.

Beagle Is Decoy

Navy's Welsh, as cool and calculating as a pro quarterback until he ran into Notre Dame, was outshone by Paul Hornung that day. Still he's a fine passer and smart play director who deserves consideration. One reason why Beagle hasn't been such a standout this season is that Welsh has frequently used him as a decoy while passing to someone else.

Army's Don Holleder, who might have made it as an end, judging by last year's performances, has had to play quarterback this season and Princeton's Royce Flippin, another 1954 stockout, hasn't played at all because of a knee injury.

Indians Practice For Wake Forest

WILLIAMSBURG, Va., Nov. 2 (AP)—Another day of rugged practice today saw Coach Jackie Freeman's William and Mary Indians work against Wake Forest offenses and defenses.

Freeman warned the Demon Deacons, already favorites, will be up for the game after close losses to the Tribe the past two years.

Halfback Jack Yohe, injured against West Virginia three weeks ago, will be forced to sit out the clash this week. Star tackle Bob Lusk is expected to be ready for the game.

VMI Ends Heavy Drills For Lehigh

LEXINGTON, Va., Nov. 2 (AP)—Virginia Military Institute's football team ended its heavy work today in preparation for Saturday's meeting with Lehigh and the entire varsity squad, excepting tackle Bill Miller, participated in a long scrimmage.

Miller is expected to be available for duty on Saturday although he'll not be in the starting lineup.

Almost the entire session was devoted to scrimmage with emphasis on blocking drills. Some running and conditioning exercises were also on the program.

Shooting Match Is Set Saturday

The Short Gap Volunteer Fire Company will sponsor a shooting match on Saturday, November 5, beginning at noon and closing at dark.

Turkeys and dressed chickens will be awarded as prizes at the event for the benefit of the fire company. Entrants will use 12-guage shotguns.

Richmond Faces Block Nov. 14

Assets To Be Sold At Public Auction

RICHMOND, Va., Nov. 2 (AP)—Assets of the Richmond Virginians baseball club of the Class AAA International League will be sold at public auction Nov. 14 at 2 p.m. to satisfy a tax claim of $79,218.68.

The sale will be conducted by the federal tax collector at Parker Field, home grounds of the Virginians. Announcement of the date and place was made today by Internal Revenue Service officials. The Richmond club's assets were seized yesterday.

"We are prepared to sell the assets at that time to satisfy the government's tax claim against the Virginians," said Clifford W. Glotzbach, Virginia district IRS director.

The federal government claims that Consolidated Enterprises, Inc., trading as the Richmond Virginians, and headed by Harry C. Seibold, owes the money for unpaid admission taxes for 1954 and withholding and social security taxes in 1954-55.

The club's assets, including its franchise, 18 player contracts and miscellaneous equipment will be sold to the highest bidder if Consolidated does not pay the taxes before the sale date, Glotzbach said.

Maentz Named Best Lineman

End Helped Michigan Defeat Iowa Eleven

[By The Associated Press]

Tom Maentz, a husky 220-pound end for the University of Michigan, turned defeat into victory for the Wolverines against Iowa Saturday. He caught a forward pass and went 60 yards for what proved to be the winning touchdown in Michigan's great last quarter rally.

For his performance that delighted Michigan adherents in the crowd of 72,000 at Ann Arbor and in a national television audience, Maentz was selected today as The Associated Press lineman of the week.

Hardy was named back of the week for his performance in steering the Wildcats from behind twice for a 20-16 victory over Rice.

Maentz, a 6-2 junior from Holland, Mich., earlier had scored one of Michigan's touchdowns, but Iowa still led 21-20 until his spectacular catch and run that put the Wolverines ahead for good.

Bidders may not specify more than one rate of interest to be borne by any single series of said bonds but may name a different rate of interest for each maturity. Each of said bids shall state the amount of money per One Hundred Dollars ($100.00) which the bidder will pay for said bonds.

The bonds will be awarded to the bidder whose bid provides the lowest interest cost to the City, such cost to be determined by deducting the total amount of the premium bid, if any, from the aggregate amount of interest upon all of the bonds until their respective maturities. If two or more responsible bidders have made bids, each of which represents the lowest interest cost to the City, then such bonds may be awarded in a ratable portion among such bidders.

No interest will be allowed on the amount of the deposit. Checks deposited by unsuccessful bidders will be returned to them when the bonds are awarded to the successful bidder. The deposit of the successful bidder will be credited on account of the total amount payable for said bids.

Accrued interest shall be adjusted to the date of delivery of the bonds and the payment therefor. The time and place of delivery of the bonds and the payment therefor shall be fixed by mutual agreement of the City and the successful bidder.

The bonds will be the unconditional obligation of the Mayor and City Council of Cumberland, issued upon its full faith and credit which will be irrevocably pledged to the payment of the principal of and interest on all of said bonds when the same fall due. The said Ordinance provides that the net proceeds derived from the sale of said bonds shall be used for the construction of a certain water pipe line and connections thereto and certain expenses incurred by said City in the repair, rehabilitation and expansion of certain of its water plant facilities and for no other purpose or purposes. Said Ordinance directs that the Mayor and City Council shall charge and collect for the water supplied to the residents of the City of Cumberland and vicinity, a sum sufficient to pay the expenses heretofore and hereafter necessary for the operation of the water system of Cumberland, Maryland, and to pay the interest on and principal of the bonds of the City of Cumberland now outstanding pertaining to the water system of said City, and the bonds authorized by the said Ordinance, as the same fall due. Said Ordinance further provides that if the receipts from the Water Department of said City shall be less than the aforesaid expenses in any year or years, the Mayor and City Council shall levy from time to time ad valorem taxes on the assessable property of the said City as may be necessary to pay the interest on and principal of the bonds authorized by said Ordinance, as the same fall due, and that the water rates for the year succeeding any year in which a deficit occurs in the Water Department, shall be increased by an amount sufficient to pay off such deficit.

Under existing laws, these bonds and the interest payable thereon, are exempt from all State, County and Municipal taxes in the State of Maryland, and the interest payable thereon is not taxable as income under Federal income Tax law.

The legality of the issue will be approved by Thomas B. Finan, Esq., City Solicitor of the City of Cumberland, Cumberland, Maryland, and Messrs. Miles, Walsh and Stockbridge of Cumberland, Maryland and Baltimore, Maryland, and the approving opinions of these gentlemen will be delivered upon request to the purchaser of the bonds without additional charge.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Contract Bridge

by Josephine Culbertson

IT PAYS TO KEEP COOL

TWO PLAYERS may be so well matched in pure knowledge and skill that there is nothing to choose between them in that sense—and yet, one may be much more successful than the other. Why? Simply because of a better temperament—specifically, the ability to remain calm when partner has made a mistake. Consider this deal, and note how West, out of sheer irritation, allowed the contract to be made.

South dealer.
North-South 30 on score.

	♠ Q J 10 8 ♥ Q 5 3 ♦ A Q 6 ♣ 8 7 5
♠ A 7 5 2 ♥ 9 6 4 ♦ 10 5 ♣ K J 9 3	N W E S	♠ 6 4 ♥ K J 7 2 ♦ K J 8 4 3 ♣ 4 2
	♠ K 9 3 ♥ A 10 8 ♦ 9 7 2 ♣ A Q 10 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 NT	Pass	2 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

In view of the opposing part-score, East might have risked a double of one spade, asking for a response in either red suit, but it is obvious that this would have been quite a risk, and East's actual pass was certainly more orthodox.

West, having heard the opponents bid clubs and spades, the two suits in which he had length, decided to lead the ten of diamonds. As may be seen, this should have turned out well—but "something happened."

The diamond queen was played from the board; East won with the king and returned the diamond jack. East realized that South, instead of West, might have the nine, but the pressing need, it seemed, was to knock out the diamond ace—the entry to the spade suit. East couldn't know that West had such strength in clubs; from East's point of view a shift to that suit wasn't very attractive.

West, however, was confidently expecting a club return and was disgusted at the actual diamond lead, particularly since he suspected from East's huddle that South had the diamond nine. So when declarer, having taken the diamond trick in dummy, led a spade to the king, West promptly accepted his ace, feeling that the defense had been ruined.

As it happened, the defense was ruined now, but if West had made the correct hold-up play in spades it would have been a different story.

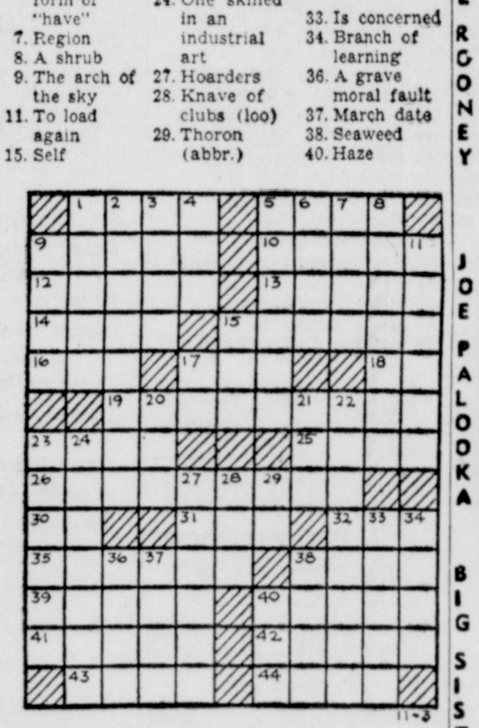
Yesterday's Answer



DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:
A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Contract Bridge
by Josephine Culbertson

IT PAYS TO KEEP COOL

TWO PLAYERS may be so well matched in pure knowledge and skill that there is nothing to choose between them in that sense—and yet, one may be much more successful than the other. Why? Simply because of a better temperament—specifically, the ability to remain calm when partner has made a mistake. Consider this deal, and note how West, out of sheer irritation, allowed the contract to be made.

South dealer.
Both sides vulnerable.
North-South 30 on score.

	♠ Q J 10 8 ♥ Q 5 3 ♦ A Q 6 ♣ 8 7 5
♠ A 7 5 2 ♥ 9 6 4 ♦ 10 5 ♣ K J 9 3	N W E S	♠ 6 4 ♥ K J 7 2 ♦ K J 8 4 3 ♣ 4 2
	♠ K 9 3 ♥ A 10 8 ♦ 9 7 2 ♣ A Q 10 6

The bidding:

South	West	North	East
1 ♣	Pass	1 ♠	Pass
1 NT	Pass	2 NT	Pass
Pass	Pass

In view of the opposing part-score, East might have risked a double of one spade, asking for a response in either red suit, but it is obvious that this would have been quite a risk, and East's actual pass was certainly more orthodox.

West, having heard the opponents bid clubs and spades, the two suits in which he had length, decided to lead the ten of diamonds. As may be seen, this should have turned out well—but "something happened."

The diamond queen was played from the board; East won with the king and returned the diamond jack. East realized that South, instead of West, might have the nine, but the pressing need, it seemed, was to knock out the diamond ace—the entry to the spade suit. East couldn't know that West had such strength in clubs; from East's point of view a shift to that suit wasn't very attractive.

West, however, was confidently expecting a club return and was disgusted at the actual diamond lead, particularly since he suspected from East's huddle that South had the diamond nine. So when declarer, having taken the diamond trick in dummy, led a spade to the king, West promptly accepted his ace, feeling that the defense had been ruined.

As it happened, the defense was ruined now, but if West had made the correct hold-up play in spades it would have been a different story.

The family of the late Mrs. Jane Fair, wishes to thank their friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness during the recent illness and death of our beloved mother and sister. Also those who donated cars and sent floral tributes and Mass cards.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Alice Wagner, who died Nov. 3, 1942.
The memory of our mother, Oh it cometh everywhere
It shineth in the darkness, and it floateth on the air.
It clings to us, it talks to us through the live long day
It meets us in our daily tasks, our household work or play.
That blessed, blessed memory, that dear familiar tone,
As the spirit watches still and communeth with her own.
Sadly missed by her

Card of Thanks

The family of the late Mrs. Jane Fair, wishes to thank their friends, relatives and neighbors for their kindness during the recent illness and death of our beloved mother and sister. Also those who donated cars and sent floral tributes and Mass cards.

The Fair Family and Ready Sisters.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of Mrs. Alice Wagner, who died Nov. 3, 1942.

The memory of our mother, Oh it cometh everywhere
It shineth in the darkness, and it floateth on the air.
It clings to us, it talks to us through the live long day
It meets us in our daily tasks, our household work or play.
That blessed, blessed memory, that dear familiar tone,
As the spirit watches still and communeth with her own.

Sadly missed by her
Children & Grandchildren.

Legislators Plan Hearing On Runaways

Council Orders Safety Discussion

The Legislative Council of the General Assembly will hold a hearing on runaway tractor-trailers and trucks and possible safeguards against repetition of the tragedy which shocked this area October 19.

Fred B. Driscoll, delegate from this county and a member of the Legislative Council, returned last night from a meeting of the council in Baltimore the past two days.

Driscoll urged the council to appoint a committee for the purpose of drafting legislation or setting up regulations which might help the problem, and would guard against more of these runaways. While this recent one was the most tragic, he noted, there have been a total of 14 such runaways on the mountains of this county in recent years.

The Legislative Council, after some discussion, decided against naming a special committee, but referred the problem to the Judiciary Committee of which Driscoll is a member. The council urged an immediate hearing on the problem.

It was then decided, Driscoll said, that the committee will hold a hearing in the City Hall in Baltimore on November 22 at 2 p. m. To this hearing will be invited the State Roads Commission, the Maryland State Police, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, Maryland Motor Truck Association, Teamsters Union, AFL, and Allegany County Commissioners.

Driscoll said the hearing is open to all persons who wish to attend, and ideas and suggestions will be heartily welcomed.

Commission Overruled By Jury

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon reversed a decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission.

As a result the case brought originally by Frank E. Hilliker, claimant, against the Cumberland Motor Sales, employer, and Public Service Mutual Insurance Company, insurer, will be remanded to the State Industrial Accident Commission.

Hilliker, who had been employed by the Cumberland Motor Sales, contended that he was injured in the course of his employment in January 1952 when a car trunk lid fell on his back while he was cleaning the car.

Simon F. Reilly, then a commissioner for the State Industrial Accident, ruled that Hilliker did not file his claim for compensation within the time provided by the Workmen's Compensation Law. Hilliker then appealed to Circuit Court.

Although Hilliker was injured in January 1952 he did not file his claim for compensation until May 1954. Yesterday, the Circuit Court jury agreed that Hilliker's claim was not filed within the time prescribed by law. But the 12 jurors went a step further and decided that Hilliker did not file the claim within the proper time because his employer, Carl Billmyer, told him he would file the claim for him. This amounted to an estoppel, the jury ruled. Billmyer denied making any such promise to Hilliker.

Police Probe Thefts Here

City Police yesterday morning received a report of a breaking and entering from George C. Smith of Smith's Shows, Lafayette Avenue.

Lt. James E. Van of the City Police Detective Bureau said that during the past five weeks 100 pounds of copper wire, 12 to 15 car radiators, 18 to 24 batteries and several gallons of carnival paint were reported to have been taken.

Meanwhile, police are continuing an investigation into the breaking and entering of the Hatfield Tire Service, North Mechanic Street, on Monday.

Officer John Snyder was called to the firm when a rear window was found broken and the office rifled. Among the missing items was a check book. However, no tires were reported stolen, police said.

Resident Attends Church Conclave

Mrs. W. R. Crump, of Crump's Convalescent Rest Home, 761 Fayette Street, attended the three-day annual convention of the Seventh Day Adventist Association of Self-Supporting Institutions, which was held in Washington.

More than 200 delegates from all parts of the United States attended the annual meeting. During the convention, the A. S. I. admitted 22 hospitals, sanitarium, and nursing homes to membership, bringing the total of member institutions to 156.

Emergency Brakes May Stop Runaway Trucks

A new emergency brake system for trucks which was given its first road test recently near Pittsburgh, may be the preventive step needed to stop runaway truck accidents, City Police and Fire Commission William V. Keegan said yesterday.

The commissioner had before him a news story about about the recent test which was published in the recent issue of Teamster News, which is published quarterly by Joint Council No. 40 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America AFL.

REV. ARCHIE C. PREVATTE

Safety officials of Continental Transportation Lines Inc., highway experts and State Police observers witnessed the first test conducted September 14.

Scene of the tests were steep, dangerous Wilkinsburg Hill near Pittsburgh, where many severe accidents caused by truck braking failure have occurred in the past.

A 60,000 pound, fully-loaded, Continental double tandem tractor-trailer roared down the highway traveling at 57 miles per hour. Before the run, the trucks regular braking system had been put out of commission. Yet within 270 feet the truck was brought to a complete stop by the new emergency brake system.

"This new safety braking device should make highway tragedies caused by faulty air brakes a thing of the past," John E. Ey, safety director for Continental Transportation Lines, Inc., said after the test.

First Baptist Church's New Pastor Arrives

Will Preach First Sermon On Sunday

Rev. Archie C. Prevatte of Lake View, S. C., his wife and their two children, have arrived in Cumberland where he will assume new duties next Sunday as pastor of First Baptist Church.

A native of Lumberton, N. C., Rev. Prevatte attended Campbell Junior College in his home state, was graduated from Wake Forest College and then in 1945 completed his divinity studies at Southern Baptist Theological Seminary in Louisville, Ky.

For the past seven-and-one-half years he has served the Baptist Church in Lake View, S. C. There he has been serving as moderator of the Pee Dee Baptist Association and secretary of the Dillon County Ministerial Association.

The 34-year-old clergyman fills a pastorate that has been unoccupied since January 31 when Rev. Paul E. Bruner returned to Madison, N. C.

His wife is the former Miss Betty Holland of Richmond, Va., whom he met while both were students at Campbell Junior College. They have two children, Kay, eight, and Richard, four.

Rev. Prevatte was guest pastor at First Baptist Church one Sunday in August. After that the congregation extended him an invitation to become pastor here.

B&O Engineers Who Filed Suit Lose Their Jobs

Railroad Says It Complied With Law

BALTIMORE, Nov. 2 (AP) — The Baltimore and Ohio Railroad said today it has complied strictly with provisions of the Railway Labor Act in the case of two Cumberland, Md., engineers who sued it and the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers for one million dollars.

The suit was filed in Federal Court here by Jack W. Welman and Walter H. Schaver, who finally lost their jobs today after fighting dismissal for more than three years.

The railroad said it had no choice but to fire them.

The dispute arose over provisions of the Union Shop Amendment which Congress wrote into the Railway Labor Act in 1951.

The B&O in the same year entered into a union shop agreement with the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. Under its terms, engineers working on the railroad must be members of the brotherhood.

Welman and Schaver were members until August of 1952, when they withdrew and joined the rival United Railroad Operating Crafts.

Contending they still were eligible for jobs under the law, they obtained a temporary injunction against dismissal and continued working while the question moved through administrative and court hearings.

They finally lost this effort last month. In the meantime they had applied for reinstatement in the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers but were rejected.

Welman and Schaver contend they lost their jobs because of a conspiracy between the railroad and the union.

The B&O said today:

"Throughout this long proceeding, the railroad has acted in strict compliance with the union shop agreement.

"The contentions which plaintiffs make in this suit for damages are identical with the contentions which they made in prior litigation.

"In the former suit they sought an injunction to protect their right to work. Now they have abandoned their right to work and merely seek damages.

"So far as the railroad is concerned, the application by plaintiffs for reinstatement (in the union) was made too late to have any effect under the union shop agreement."

Well Known B&O Engineer Completes His Last Run

By F. ALLAN WEATHERHOLT
News Staff Writer

A Baltimore and Ohio Railroad locomotive engineer with one of the best safety records and most colorful careers in the business has retired.

Benjamin Sanford Brake, Oldtown Road, made his last run piloting a heavy freight diesel Monday from Grafton to Cumberland. An engineer known for his ability to bring his trains in on schedule, he chuckles about his last run.

Due in Cumberland at 3:30 p. m., he did not leave his train until about 5:15 p. m. He arrived in the yards on time, but due to heavy rail traffic and other factors, he was not able to reach his terminal point for almost two more hours. Jokingly, he accused the yardmaster and others of "just holding me up a couple hours because it was my last day."

His fellow workmen presented him with an easy chair, which "Sam" appreciates in no small measure. He said, "I expect to do a lot of sitting around, now that I'm retired, but I also expect to catch up on my hunting and fishing." He is well known as an ardent sportsman and outsdoorsman, and said he is already looking forward to the opening of deer season.

Brake knows about the hazards of railroading, although he never had any kind of wreck more serious that a "car wheel or two" off the track.

Years ago, "longer than I like to remember," Brake had a runaway on the 17-mile grade. He said the train's brakes failed, and the drag got away from him coming down the grade. He was ready to run into one of the "switchbacks" constructed along the grade in order to prevent a serious pileup, but managed to get the train stopped before he got to the switchback. Emergency brakes and hand brakes were set, he explained, and "we held her on the rails until she finally ran herself out and stopped."

On another occasion on a stretch of track known as Cranberry Grade, Brake was piloting an engine on a heavy freight, being assisted upgrade by a helper engine on the back, just behind the caboose. The boiler of the helper exploded and wrecked the engine and the caboose.

As soon as he could stop and get back, Brake ran the length of the train. He discovered the "insides blown out of the caboose," and his flagman, Charles Cornell, lying, injured in the caboose, under lumber and debris.

Brake says, "I didn't do anything. Just pulled him out." Other railroad men who know this quiet and efficient engineer say that he probably saved Cornell's life, and that his brakeman and the rest of the crew were his first considerations.

Railroaders say that Brake climbed into the caboose, "threw out lumber and debris like a madman until he reached his injured flagman." This incident happened years ago, but the oldtimers still talk about it when they talk "railroading."

Brake lives on Oldtown Road about two miles beyond the city limits, and has resided there for years. His only son, William Russell Brake, lives just across the road. A daughter, his only other child, resides in Baltimore. She is Eleanor Marie (Brake) McDonald, the mother of Brake's two grandchildren.

One Student 'Jury' Agrees With Regular Court Panel

One "jury" of Allegany High School students reached the same verdict as an Allegany County Circuit Court jury in a case heard Tuesday but the other "jury" could not reach an agreement.

After the evidence had been heard and the witnesses, attorneys and jurors had left the courtroom for lunch Tuesday, Chief Judge George Henderson gave the students the same instructions that eventually were presented to the real jury.

Then they began their deliberations. One "jury" decided that both drivers involved in a traffic accident at Baltimore and Mechanic streets were guilty of contributory negligence and therefore were not entitled to damages.

On the other "jury" three members expressed a conviction that both drivers were guilty of negligence but the others felt that only one driver was negligent. They failed to agree.

While at the Court House, the students also saw a demonstration concerning how to cast a ballot on a voting machine. Beginning with next May's primary election, all county elections will be done on machines.

Arraignment To Be Held On Murder Charge

Winters Funeral Slated Tomorrow

James Allen, 72-year-old Klondike resident, who was charged with murder yesterday in the fatal shooting of a neighbor, Donald Winters, 34, is expected to be arraigned early next week, according to Milton Gerson who will represent the defendant.

The shooting took place late Tuesday afternoon near the Allen home following an argument between the two men.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, yesterday obtained a warrant charging Allen with the murder of Winters, who was the father of two young children.

Police said that during the argument Allen went into his home, placed one shell in a .12 gauge double barrel shotgun, walked to the front steps, aimed the gun at Winters and fired.

Funeral Tomorrow

A funeral service for Winters, who died Tuesday night while on the operating table at Miners Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Hafer's Funeral Home, Frostburg. Rev. Wilbur H. Grose, pastor of Eckhart Methodist Charge, will officiate, and interment will be in the Frostburg Memorial Park.

Tfc. Harry S. Bosley, who conducted the investigation, was called by neighbors.

Tfc. Bosley reported that Winters and his wife had gone shopping Tuesday afternoon and returned to their home about 4 p. m.

Their two children, Vera Ann, ten years, and Donald, seven, told their father that while they were gone Allen had accused them of opening his yard gate and the door to his home.

Allen, Bosley added, had been gone from his home during the afternoon also.

Bosley said Winters went to the vicinity of Allen's residence but remained off his property.

Went To Get Gun

An argument ensued and Allen is said by neighbors to have stated he was going into the house to get his shotgun.

Tfc Bosley said Winters told him to go ahead and get his gun. With this, Allen then got the gun and shot Winters.

According to bystanders, Allen is reported after the shooting to have taken the shell from the gun. Blowing the smoke from the barrel, he went up on his front porch and sat down, they added.

Allen was taken to the state's attorney's office by Sgt. Baker, who is assisting State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher during the illness of Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator.

A statement was obtained from Allen and he was lodged in the County Jail.

An autopsy, which is usually ordered in such cases, was performed on the victim Tuesday in Memorial Hospital.

Winters is survived, besides his children, by his wife, Mrs. Betty (Schell) Winters; his parents, Arch and Sally (Haines) Winters, Klondike, two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Wright and Mrs. Ann Winner, both of Frostburg; and two brothers, William Winters, Midlothian, and Earl Winters, at home.

Winters was a veteran of World War II, having served with the Army Engineers in the fighting in France and Germany. He was a member of Carlos Methodist Church.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg.

Legislators Plan Hearing On Runaways

Council Orders Safety Discussion

The Legislative Council of the General Assembly will hold a hearing on runaway tractor-trailers and trucks and possible safeguards against repetition of the tragedy which shocked this area October 19.

Fred B. Driscoll, delegate from this county and a member of the Legislative Council, returned last night from a meeting of the council in Baltimore the past two days.

Driscoll urged the council to appoint a committee for the purpose of drafting legislation or setting up regulations which might help the problem, and would guard against more of these runaways. While this recent one was the most tragic, he noted, there have been a total of 14 such runaways on the mountains of this county in recent years.

The Legislative Council, after some discussion, decided against naming a special committee, but referred the problem to the Judiciary Committee of which Driscoll is a member. The council urged an immediate hearing on the problem.

It was then decided, Driscoll said, that the committee will hold a hearing in the City Hall in Baltimore on November 22 at 2 p. m. To this hearing will be invited the State Roads Commission, the Maryland State Police, Commissioner of Motor Vehicles, Maryland Traffic Safety Commission, Maryland Motor Truck Association, Teamsters Union, AFL, and Allegany County Commissioners.

Driscoll said the hearing is open to all persons who wish to attend, and ideas and suggestions will be heartily welcomed.

Commission Overruled By Jury

An Allegany County Circuit Court jury yesterday afternoon reversed a decision of the State Industrial Accident Commission.

As a result the case brought originally by Frank E. Hilliker, claimant, against the Cumberland Motor Sales, employer, and Public Service Mutual Insurance Company, insurer, will be remanded to the State Industrial Accident Commission.

Hilliker, who had been employed by the Cumberland Motor Sales, contended that he was injured in the course of his employment in January 1952 when a car trunk lid fell on his back while he was cleaning the car.

Simon F. Reilly, then a commissioner for the State Industrial Accident, ruled that Hilliker did not file his claim for compensation within the time provided by the Workmen's Compensation Law. Hilliker then appealed to Circuit Court.

Although Hilliker was injured in January 1952 he did not file his claim for compensation until May 1954. Yesterday, the Circuit Court jury agreed that Hilliker's claim was not filed within the time prescribed by law. But the 12 jurors went a step further and decided that Hilliker did not file the claim within the proper time because his employer, Carl Billmyer, told him he would file the claim for him. This amounted to an estoppel, the jury ruled. Billmyer denied making any such promise to Hilliker.

Attorneys Edward J. Ryan and William L. Wilson represented Hilliker while Attorney William C. Walsh and his son, William Walsh, represented the employer and the insurer.

Police Probe Thefts Here

City Police yesterday morning received a report of a breaking and entering from George C. Smith of Smith's Shows, Lafayette Avenue.

Lt. James E. Van of the City Police Detective Bureau said that during the past five weeks 100 pounds of copper wire, 12 to 15 car radiators, 18 to 24 batteries and several gallons of carnival paint were reported to have been taken.

Meanwhile, police are continuing an investigation into the breaking and entering of the Hatfield Tire Service, North Mechanic Street, on Monday.

Officer John Snyder was called to the firm when a rear window was found broken and the office rifled. Among the missing items was a check book. However, no tires were reported stolen, police said.

Emergency Brakes May Stop Runaway Trucks

A new emergency brake system for trucks which was given its first road test recently near Pittsburgh, may be the preventive step needed to stop runaway truck accidents, City Police and Fire Commission William V. Keegan said yesterday.

The commissioner had before him a news story about about the recent test which was published in the recent issue of Teamster News, which is published quarterly by Joint Council No. 40 of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, Chauffeurs, Warehousemen and Helpers of America AFL.

Safety officials of Continental Transportation Lines Inc., highway experts and State Police observers witnessed the first test conducted September 14.

Scene of the tests were steep, dangerous Wilkinsburg Hill near Pittsburgh, where many severe accidents caused by truck braking failure have occurred in the past.

A 60,000 pound, fully-loaded, Continental double tandem tractor-trailer roared down the highway traveling at 57 miles per hour. Before the run, the trucks regular braking system had been put out of commission. Yet within 270 feet the truck was brought to a complete stop by the new emergency brake system.

"This new safety braking device should make highway tragedies caused by faulty air brakes a thing of the past," John E. Ey, safety director for Continental Transportation Lines, Inc., said after the test.

He was ready to run into one of the "switchbacks" constructed along the grade in order to prevent a serious pileup, but managed to get the train stopped before he got to the switchback. Emergency brakes and hand brakes were set, he explained, and "we held her on the rails until she finally ran herself out and stopped."

On another occasion on a stretch of track known as Cranberry Grade, Brake was piloting an engine on a heavy freight, being assisted upgrade by a helper engine on the back, just behind the caboose. The boiler of the helper exploded and wrecked the engine and the caboose.

As soon as he could stop and get back, Brake ran the length of the train. He discovered the "insides blown out of the caboose," and his flagman, Charles Cornell, lying, injured in the caboose, under lumber and debris.

Brake says, "I didn't do anything. Just pulled him out." Other railroad men who know this quiet and efficient engineer say that he probably saved Cornell's life, and that his brakeman and the rest of the crew were his first considerations.

Railroaders say that Brake climbed into the caboose, "threw out lumber and debris like a madman until he reached his injured flagman." This incident happened years ago, but the oldtimers still talk about it when they talk "railroading."

Brake lives on Oldtown Road about two miles beyond the city limits, and has resided there for years. His only son, William Russell Brake, lives just across the road. A daughter, his only other child, resides in Baltimore. She is Eleanor Marie (Brake) McDonald, the mother of Brake's two grandchildren.

Quiet and unassuming to a point

Cresaptown Youth Will Meet Tonight

Young people between the ages of 13 and 20, of the Cresaptown area will attend a meeting at Cresaptown School tonight at 7:30 o'clock to further plans for the organization of a recreation program.

For some weeks a Community Council of Adults, representing some 20 Cresaptown area organizations, has been studying the problem with the hope of working out a wholesome recreation program for the youngsters.

At tonight's meeting, the plan calls for the young people to form a Cresaptown Youth Council of 15 members. These young people will then meet and elect their officers and committee chairmen. Just what form their program will take remains to be decided.

In order to assist them the Adult Council has arranged to have Lee Lehr, president of Frostburg's Teen Town; Patricia Clancy, president of the Cumberland Rec Club; and L. R. Dehn, program director of Cumberland's Central YMCA, speak tonight. Dehn and others have been actively assisting the Adult Council in this project.

One Student 'Jury' Agrees With Regular Court Panel

One "jury" of Allegany High School students reached the same verdict as an Allegany County Circuit Court jury in a case heard Tuesday but the other "jury" could not reach an agreement.

Miss Mary E. Murray annually takes the members of her junior citizenship class to the Court House once during the school year so they can hear a jury trial. Such was the case Tuesday.

The teacher divided her class of 30 students into two 15-member "juries" to consider the verdict independently of the real jury.

After the evidence had been heard and the witnesses, attorneys and jurors had left the courtroom for lunch Tuesday, Chief Judge George Henderson gave the students the same instructions that eventually were presented to the real jury.

Then they began their deliberations. One "jury" decided that both drivers involved in a traffic accident at Baltimore and Mechanic streets were guilty of contributory negligence and therefore were not entitled to damages.

On the other "jury" three members expressed a conviction that both drivers were guilty of negligence but the others felt that only one driver was negligent. They failed to agree.

While at the Court House, the students also saw a demonstration concerning how to cast a ballot on a voting machine. Beginning with next May's primary election, all county elections will be done on machines.

Arraignment To Be Held On Murder Charge

Winters Funeral Slated Tomorrow

James Allen, 72-year-old Klondike resident, who was charged with murder yesterday in the fatal shooting of a neighbor, Donald Winters, 34, is expected to be arraigned early next week, according to Milton Gerson who will represent the defendant.

The shooting took place late Tuesday afternoon near the Allen home following an argument between the two men.

Sgt. William F. Baker, criminal investigator for the Maryland State Police, yesterday obtained a warrant charging Allen with the murder of Winters, who was the father of two young children.

Police said that during the argument Allen went into his home, placed one shell in a .12 gauge double barrel shotgun, walked to the front steps, aimed the gun at Winters and fired.

Funeral Tomorrow

The victim was struck squarely in the middle of the abdomen, police added.

A funeral service for Winters, who died Tuesday night while on the operating table at Miners Hospital, will be conducted tomorrow at 2 p. m. in Hafer's Funeral Home, Frostburg. Rev. Wilbur H. Grose, pastor of Eckhart Methodist Charge, will officiate, and interment will be in the Frostburg Memorial Park.

Tfc. Harry S. Bosley, who conducted the investigation, was called by neighbors.

Tfc. Bosley reported that Winters and his wife had gone shopping Tuesday afternoon and returned to their home about 4 p. m.

Their two children, Vera Ann, ten years, and Donald, seven, told their father that while they were gone Allen had accused them of opening his yard gate and the door to his home.

Went To Get Gun

An argument ensued and Allen is said by neighbors to have stated he was going into the house to get his shotgun.

Tfc Bosley said Winters told him to go ahead and get his gun. With this, Allen then got the gun and shot Winters.

According to bystanders, Allen is reported after the shooting to have taken the shell from the gun. Blowing the smoke from the barrel, he went up on his front porch and sat down, they added.

Allen was taken to the state's attorney's office by Sgt. Baker, who is assisting State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher during the illness of Edwin R. Lilya, county investigator.

A statement was obtained from Allen and he was lodged in the County Jail.

An autopsy, which is usually ordered in such cases, was performed on the victim Tuesday in Memorial Hospital.

Winters is survived, besides his children, by his wife, Mrs. Betty (Schell) Winters; his parents, Arch and Sally (Haines) Winters, Klondike, two sisters, Mrs. Ruby Wright and Mrs. Ann Winner, both of Frostburg; and two brothers, William Winters, Midlothian, and Earl Winters, at home.

Winters was a veteran of World War II, having served with the Army Engineers in the fighting in France and Germany. He was a member of Carlos Methodist Church.

The body is at the Hafer Funeral Home, Frostburg.
